

FILIBUSTER TACTICS TO DELAY DRAFT BILL SQUELCHED

Grave Disorders Among Central Powers

Conscription Forces Win First Fight

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—Administration forces and selective conscription advocates won their first real legislative skirmish at the capitol this afternoon when a filibuster that was bitterly waged for more than an hour was finally squelched.

Plans of leaders to rush the army bill through to a vote ahead of everything else proceeded after Chairman Chamberlain of the military committee, forced a vote to take up the army measure.

Only five senators—Thomas, La Follette, Gronna, Hiram Johnson, and Fernald—voted against Chamberlain.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The administration's selective conscription army bill struck an unexpected snag in the senate late this afternoon.

Following a spirited committee hearing of anti-conscription pacifists, Senator Thompson this afternoon started filibuster tactics to delay consideration of the question of raising an army of two million to defend the country.

Thompson, at the close of the "morning hour," which is devoted to merely routine business, demanded "the regular order," which yesterday had been shunted aside so that debate on the spy bill was postponed, giving the army measure precedence over all matters.

In the meantime the house military committee finally and formally reported out the army general staff bill so modified as to shift responsibility for use of the selective draft system onto President Wilson unless he should consent to try out the volunteer system first.

Chairman Dent, volunteer proponent, and Representative Kahn, California, conscription advocate, ranking Republican member of the military committee, completed their respective majority and minority reports. Dent's report carries an appropriation of $3,000,000.

Kahn's report, signed by eight members of the committee, four of whom have seen military service, insist on the original staff bill. A letter from Secretary Baker to the military committee a few days ago.

Teuton Destroyers Sunk, Raid On Dover Is Foiled

LONDON, April 21.—Two German destroyers were sunk and one other was possibly destroyed, when the enemy vessels attempted a raid on Dover, the admiralty announced today.

The raid on Dover was attempted last night, five German vessels participating. They were attacked by two British patrol ships. The fight that ensued lasted only five minutes. The British ships suffered no material damage and the casualties suffered were slight. Ten German officers and ninety-five men were rescued and made prisoners.

The admiralty statement said:

"At night five German destroyers attempted a raid on Dover. A number of rounds were fired into a ploughed field and the enemy then steered in the direction of our shipping. They were met by two Dover patrol vessels, and in five minutes two of the enemy ships were sunk and possibly three. The remainder made off at high speed, escaping in the darkness.

"Our vessels suffered no material damage and our casualties were slight compared with the results.

"Ten German officers and 95 men were saved.

"Our vessels were well handled."

FOOD 100 PERCENT HIGHER

CHICAGO, April 21.—Food prices, which a year ago were considered exorbitant are today as much as 100 per cent higher in many staples. ### GERMANS DENY MAKING FATS AND FERTILIZERS FROM HUMAN BODIES

LONDON, April 21.—Indignant denial that Germans are using human carcasses from which to render fats, lubricating oils and fertilizer, was made in a Berlin wireless dispatch intercepted here today. The story of a German factory where the dead were thus reduced had been in circulation here for several weeks.

"The newspaper Lokal Anzeiger, which was quoted in stories describing the mill used to transform the carcasses of animals into oil used the expression 'cadaver' the wireless declared.

"This word is never used to describe human bodies—it means only the carcasses of animals."

ARGENTINE AROUSED

BUENOS AIRES, April 21.—Argentina has made formal demand on Germany for satisfaction, for sinking of the Argentine steamer Monte Protegido by a German U-boat.

Announcing this today El Nacion, Argentine's leading newspaper, declares it understands if Germany's reply is unsatisfactory President Irigoyen will not only break relations but declare war.

While Argentina was thus considering all eventualities in the situation, alarming reports were reaching here as to the increasing gravity of the German revolt in Southern Brazil. Uruguay, near the disaffected section, today mobilized its entire standing army and ordered the militia held in readiness, according to Montevideo dispatches to oppose any attempt by the Germans to invade Uruguayan territory.

BALFOUR AND PARTY HAVE LANDED SAFELY

Churchill Wants American Forces Sent To France

LONDON, April 21.—Winston Churchill, former first lord of the admiralty, now himself in khaki, wants an American expeditionary force sent to France as soon as possible—simply for the effect the presence of Americans would have on the allied forces.

"Of course I can express only my personal opinion," he said today, "but it seems certain that the presence of even a single American being on the battle fields of France or Flanders this year, would exercise influence and afford encouragement out of all proportion to the actual number of men employed.

"It was always represented to us that the timely arrival of even a small force of British troops in France would stimulate and cheer admirably, now himself in khaki, the heart of every French soldier.

"As it turned out, our small force sent to France as soon as possible—simply for the effect the presence of Americans would have on the allied forces.

"Of course I can express only my personal opinion," he said today, "but it seems certain that the presence of even a single American being on the battle fields of France or Flanders this year, would exercise influence and afford encouragement out of all proportion to the actual number of men employed.

Canal Lands To Be Used For War Food Production

COLUMBUS, O., April 21.—Governor Cox today paved the way for placing more than 1,500 acres of tillable state canal lands in use for war food production.

Cox directed Frank Fauver, state superintendent of public works, to offer canal tracts to county commissioners, city authorities, chambers of commerce or other civic organizations which will put them in crops or gardens.

Most of the land thus made available is located in Coshocton, Cuyahoga, Defiance, Licking, Montgomery, Paulding and Summit counties.

Belgian Relief Ship Sunk

YMUDEN, HOLLAND, April 21.—The Belgian Relief Ship Kongsli, carrying a cargo of 8,000 tons of wheat, was sunk in the "safety zone" announced by Germany by a mine or submarine yesterday, with the possible loss of one life.

This was revealed today when nineteen American survivors and fifteen men of other nationalities were landed here. Second Mate Ilekstadt is missing. The survivors were rescued by trawlers.

The Kongsli was a Norwegian sailing ship in the relief commission service.

Armed Ship Reaches Port

PARIS, April 21.—The armed American merchantman Onega, arrived safely at a French port, it was announced today.

The Onega is a steel screw steamer of 3,636 tons, owned by Barber and Company, New York.

Munition Workers On A Strike In Germany; Revolt Near In Hungary

(By United Press War Expert)

NEW YORK, April 21.—While official statements continued to relate the continued forward sweep of the Franco-British armies, interest centered today on unofficial reports indicating widespread unrest and grave disorders in Germany and Austro-Hungary.

Berlin official statements denied any rioting and persisted in asserting that the general strike, called six days ago in protest against the reduction of the bread ration and in general complaint of long hours and meager pay in all industries, had "been settled."

Copenhagen and Amsterdam, on the other hand, heard many reports of thousands of workmen joining in the strike of disorders in various cities and of desperate attempts by German militarist leaders to persuade a resumption of work on the ground that absence of men from munitions plants might seriously hamper the soldiers now fighting against the tremendous Franco-British offensive.

Meanwhile various Dutch and Swiss cities heard rumors indicating gradual crumbling of Germany's influence in Austro-Hungary—Rome even reporting a revolutionary outbreak so serious as to require the institution of martial law in 26 cities in Hungary.

AMSTERDAM, April 21.—Twenty thousand munition workers in Berlin and Spandau are out on a general strike today in protest against the reduction in bread ration, according to latest information from Germany. Scores of conflicting rumors as to the strike—including a number of reports of great violence accompanying riots in various cities—reached here today. A great force of strikers is said to have revolted at Magdeburg and tried to burn public buildings.

According to this report troops were called out to restore order in the clashes with the rioters had killed and wounded several, the city now being in a state of siege.

Reports from Dusseldorf declared a meeting of strike delegates in Berlin had rejected a proposition advanced by some of their leaders demanding that the German government immediately renounce any intention to annexation in the war, abolish compulsory service and institute at once a general equal franchise system. Not even the promise of an increase in the allowances of meat

Extraordinary efforts are apparently being made by the German government to restore order and to suppress news of the internal situation. Two days ago the government let it be known through official news channels that the entire strike was "settled."

Apparently recognizing the fundamental cause for the strike lies in inequitable distribution of the food, the German government is conducting the most searching investigation to unearth hidden stores of food. Berlin advises to

ROOSEVELT REITERATES CONSCRIPTION DEMAND

NEW YORK, April 21.—Colonel Roosevelt struck back today at those who have been using his plan for raising a division of troops as an argument against obligatory service. In the first interview he has granted on his army plan, he reiterated strongly his demand for universal obligatory service coupled with a plan that while this compulsory system was being made operative, a volunteer force be sent abroad.

"I do not want to be put in the position of saying to my fellow countrymen—'go to the war,'" he declared. "I want to be in the position of saying—'come to the war; I am going with you.'"

"I wish we already had universal military training in this country. But we are as Great Britain was when the war broke out. She had disregarded Lord Roberts' advice to have universal military service.

"But it would have been a capital mistake if when the war broke out, she had declined to send a small military expedition at once to Belgium and had refused to accept volunteers from Canada and Australia—on the plea that she then intended to do nothing except in accordance with the theory of obligatory military service.

"What she ought to have done, was to send her expeditionary army exactly as she did; to use the volunteers exactly as she did—and instantly to introduce the system of obligatory service also. This is precisely what we should do. With all my heart I approve of the president's plan for universal obligatory service—both for the present war and as our permanent policy. This plan will give us the army we must have eighteen months hence. But we

Navy League Work Outlined; More Members Are Needed

The scope of the work of the Navy League of the United States was explained to the members and several visitors at an enthusiastic meeting of the Scioto County Branch, held at the Public Library Friday evening, by Miss Carmen, national organizer, Washington, D. C.

Of the three main subdivisions of the work—recruiting, knitting, wrist protectors, sleeveless sweaters, etc., and relief—Miss Carmen emphasized the urgent need of work in the first two divisions.

Details of how the Washington branch and other branches organized and got out the work were given. She told of various women's societies gathering at the Navy League headquarters for a certain period two days a week, for the purpose of knitting the sweaters and wrist protectors. These things are needed most by the men in the navy at present to protect them from the cold weather along the northern part of the coast.

Complete information and the gray wool yarn is furnished.

For prospective recruits the Scioto County Branch of the Navy League as well as other branches have been authorized to furnish transportation to the nearest navy recruiting station. A young man who desires to offer his services to the country will be given transportation to Parkersburg, W. Va., and should he be rejected, return transportation will be furnished.

Those wanting to take advantage of this offer should call Arthur H. Bannon or Guy Thompson.

Within the next few days the local branch expects to be located in permanent headquarters, which will be centrally located in the downtown district.

Sewing machines are to be installed and a quantity of raw wool yarn secured. Work on knitting the articles of clothing needed by enlisted men, will be started at once.

New members are being secured every day. Anyone interested in the work of the Navy League and wishing to become a member should see H. C. Murfin, A. H. Bannon, F. E. Fieger, Earl Purcell, Mark W. Selby or Guy Thompson.

Policeman Fires At Man And Almost Kills A Young Girl

A bullet fired at Jake Haley by Officer Womack, Friday evening, on Thirteenth street, slightly wounded Gladys Williams, 16, daughter of H. O. Williams, well-known colored barber.

There had been some trouble between Jake Haley and C. R. Gatchett. Conflicting stories are told by both. The officer started after the two Haley ran and Officer Womack fired. The bullet passed between the right arm and chest of the little Williams girl, who happened to be walking down Thirteenth street with Cordilla Jones, a companion.

The two negroes were rounded up and taken to the county jail. Dr. George W. and Ira Martin were called to dress the slight skin wound on the arm of the Williams girl.

In police court Saturday morning Haley declared that Gatchett had made insulting remarks to a girl. Gatchett said he only broke into a conversation and was followed by Haley and later struck with a club. Decision was reserved by Mayor H. H. Kaps, pending investigation.

Goodbye Catsby; He Gets Year In Jail

Alas! No more will the "Flood-wall Brigade" be able to hear the stirring speeches, the bewildering arguments and the great plans of the near-great Hon. Al "Catsy" Sly, with lazy indifference this spring and summer. For "Catsy" is going to leave—without the ovation of his fellowmen, too.

"Catsy" is going on a long journey. It will terminate next spring about this time. And the place where "Catsy" will receive his mail during this period will be the county jail. For the past ten days "Catsy" has been dodging liquor of all sorts very successfully. The only trouble has been that in his dodging he has shown an infallible skill in getting some of this liquor down his throat.

The last time he was before Mayor Kaps, he was promised a jail sentence. Friday afternoon Catsy forgot, got drunk and was stalking about the streets begging.

One whole year in the county jail is the lot of "Catsy."

Portsmouth Mausoleum Can Be Inspected Sunday, Many Beautiful Paintings

An art gallery rather than a mausoleum will be the Portsmouth Community Mausoleum, in Greenlawn cemetery, when completed. It will be open every Sunday, all day, for inspection.

"The Return from Calvary" will be the subject of a panel, eight and a half by fourteen feet, which will be painted on one side of the entrance and on the other will be "The Three Wise Men." Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Malmade, of Lima, exceptionally artistic frescoers, will arrive next week to decorate the interior walls and ceilings, and the latter will be painted in blended color panels. The work will be done in oil.

Alaskan marble in gray shades form wainscoting under the painted panels.

At one side these are set, so that the design forms the head of a girl, and another place the outline of a large butterfly. The remainder of the interior is finished in Vermont marble.

Twenty-three art glass windows are in the mausoleum. The entire building is hollow walled, making it damp proof. It has four ventilators in floor and two in ceiling. Flowers which were placed in the mausoleum Easter morning kept until this week. There is a marble shelf for flowers beneath each crypt. The floor is tile mosaic.

Gates of oxidized, non-rust material, will be hung in front of each family compartment. These family compartments are comprised of four, five or eight crypts.

Private compartments have already been sold to Mrs. Adam Seal, Mrs. H. S. Grimes, Charles J. Hume, F. J. Keegle, William B. Altman, F. V. Knauss and Roy C. Lynn. The mausoleum contains a total of 302 crypts. It has been built under the Ohio Mausoleum patent.

The exterior is of Indiana Bedford stone, the same as used by the government for most of its buildings, and by many railroads. The architecture is modified Doric style, with four columns at the entrance.

A six and a half foot cement walk will lead from Officers street to the mausoleum door. When the building is completed the owners, Lynn and Huffman, will announce the date for its dedication.

THOUGH "AGGREGATED" HUSBAND SAYS HE TURNED THE "OTHER CHEEK" WHEN HIS WIFE SLAPPED HIM; POLICE NEWS

The one man who on being struck upon the right cheek generously turns his left and stops a blow has been discovered. He is none other than John Denning.

In police court, Saturday, John was arraigned on a disorderly charge preferred by his wife. John said he was guilty alright but claimed that he was "aggregated." John's story would indicate that his wife was shaking his finger in his face and then slapped him. Of course, John claims that he turned his other cheek and received a resounding whack. The case was dismissed.

Early spring zephyrs overcame that affectionate feeling which Sarah George had for her fellowmen and she threw her arms about the neck of William Simpler and kissed him. There were lots of people about. But Sarah didn't care until she was brought before Mayor Kaps.

Sarah admitted she was drunk and was fined $25 and costs and was given a 30 day jail sentence. Simpler was fined $25 on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Russel Hicks, Dewey Harrison, Fred Boss and Arthur Mussetter were arraigned on disorderly charges brought by Anna and Della Nolen. The boys followed the two women home from the Pentecostal church, it was said. Hicks and Harrison were each fined $10 for insulting the women. Boss and Mussetter were each fined $5 for being disorderly.

David Johnson was fined $25

NEGRO GOES ON RAMPAGE, IS ARRESTED

William Jackson was the name given by a negro who caused a "near riot" in New Boston Saturday afternoon. The negro was ordered out of the York and Hans saloon when he tried to start arguments with several white men. On reaching the outside it is said he flashed a razor and defied everybody. A crowd of about 60 men and boys soon gathered and several bricks were hurled at the negro, who started on a run up Gallia pike towards the camps in allowance. The negro proved a good dodger and stopped near the Millbrook lake bridge, holding the crowd at bay until the arrival of Officer Lon Rice, who arrested him.

Clara Kimball Young at Lyric Monday

Suppose you were married To a wealthy Russian And he was exiled to Siberia And you followed him

Duffy's is A
Recognized Medicinal Whiskey
It is in a class by itself and you should insist on getting Duffy's when you ask for it. The dealer who attempts to sell you something else, knows down deep in his heart that he is sacrificing his honor for the sake of greater profit, regardless of your health and general well-being. Insist that he supply you with the one whiskey you can be certain is made for medicinal purposes.

Duffy's
Pure Malt Whiskey
Is an absolutely pure distillation of selected grain thoroughly malted. It is a remedy that merely assists nature to perform the necessary functions without forcing or injuring the constitution. Its stimulating and strengthening qualities have been testified to by representative people of all ages in all walks of life. Don't say: "Perhaps I shall feel better tomorrow." Buy a bottle today.

Es Sure You Get the Genuine
The "Old Chemist" head is on the label, and over the cork is a registered trademark. The bottle is also blown in the bottle like illustration. Sold by most liquor dealers, druggists and grocers. If they can't supply you, write us.

The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

And found that he had changed places with an exiled friend Who was a former lover Of yours—
And the Russian prison guards Forced you to live in the house With your former lover.
What would you do? You would not dare to reveal the true state of affairs for fear of the consequences to your husband, to your former lover and to yourself.

This is the sensational situation that confronts Hope Ivanova in "Hearts Afire," the latest release by the Clara Kimball Young Service-World pictures. Miss Clara Kimball Young enacts the role of Hope and she is beautiful and lovable in this picture. "Hearts Afire" is an elaborate reproduction of the great photoplay, "Hearts in Exile" and besides Miss Young includes such stars as Montagu Love and Vernon Steele. The admission will be the usual 10 cents.

Marguerite Clark at Lyric Next Tuesday and Wednesday in "The Fortunes of Fifi."

Marguerite Clark has played almost every conceivable character on the screen from the delightful little "Molly Make Believe" and "Little Lady Eileen" who believed in fairies to "Snow White," who was a sort of fairy princess herself. But during the time that she has been appearing on the screen the Famous Players have never given her the role of an actress until she played Fifi in "The Fortunes of Fifi" which is the Paramount Picture at the Lyric theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

The story, which was written by Molly Elliot Seawell, concerns a little French actress and her aims, ambitions, romance, near-tragedy and final good fortune. In it Miss Clark does some of the most delightful work of her screen career, playing the actress with a delicate touch that is refreshing and irresistibly charming.

Theda Bara in "The Tiger Woman" Columbia Tonight

The Columbia tonight presents Theda Bara in "The Tiger Woman," a six act Super De Luxe production and one of the strongest and best pictures that this great star has appeared in; this picture was thoroughly enjoyed by large crowds yesterday, both afternoon and night.

Another good program is offered at the Columbia for next week starting on Monday with Dorothy Gish featured in "Stage Struck" and a two part "Keystone" comedy "Stars and Bars" with Ford Sterling.

Tuesday brings your old favorites, Harold Lockwood and May Allison in "Pidgin Island," a 5 part reproduction of Harold McGrath's great novel.

At The Exhibit

Manager George Law made a special trip to a book exchange this week to secure for Exhibit patrons "The Jockey of Death," an unusual and extraordinary picture of a type that is different from the usual run of photo plays. "The Jockey of Death" is the first of a series of five part adventure plays produced by the International Film Corporation. "The Jockey of Death," worth twice the amount charged, will be shown here today only. It is a picture of thrilling circus life, a vital drama.

At The Arcana

The headline attraction is "The Red Goddess," one of these Big U productions, in which the renowned Indian actress, Mona Darkfeather, takes the title role. This Indian photo play is one of the best ever. Don't miss seeing it. "The Battle of Let's Go," is a two part comedy, featuring Dan Russell and Vin Moore. Billie West Charlie Chaplin's double, features in "His Married Life," a rip-roaring comedy.

At The Temple

Seven reels tonight at the Temple. The chief attractions are the wonderful serial plays. Richman and Dorothy Kelley feature in "Run Cay" chapter eight of "The Secret Kingdom" serial. "Jolts and Jewels" is a Big U comedy featuring Patsy DeForest. "Captain Jinks' Widow" is a riotous comedy number.

Sciotoville And Wheelersburg

SCIOTOVILLE

At the monthly session of Sciotoville Council Friday evening the matter of repairing Gallia pike under the B. & O. S. W. crossing was discussed. It was decided that it would be much better for the village to have the "aud hole" abolished, and voted favorably to stand part of the expense of improving the pike along with the county commissioners. The county commissioners will take up the matter at their next meeting.

An ordinance was passed fixing specifications for sidewalks. An ordinance passed naming the First National Bank as the depository for village funds, the First National's bid being 2 1/4 percent.

An attendance contest between the Sciotoville Christian Bible school and the New Boston Christian Bible school will begin tomorrow. Every member of the local school is urged to attend. All are cordially invited.

She is active in woman's club work and in church work and has a high social position in her state.

An Obstructionist.

"So you are going to have a new town?"
"I don't know. Mother has passed her bill, but I expect father will veto it. He is opposed to all our bills now."

When You Feel Tired, No Appetite, Headache

(By W. M. GRANTIER, M. D.)
If your wife tells you that you are "grouchy" and out-of-sorts, be thankful for the suggestion, and set to work to get your liver busy for it is more than likely that its inactivity is at the bottom of your trouble. Don't blame your liver for not doing its work! You have undoubtedly been giving it too much to do. You may have occasional headaches, feel tired, no appetite, and coated tongue, and this condition may lead up to other things. At such times you are the easiest prey for colds, grip, or the disease germs of malaria, typhoid, the deadly phthisis, or the many ills which carry off so many of our citizens.

My advice is, give up alcohol, tea and coffee. If you must drink something with your meals let it be a cup of hot water. Begin in the morning with a pint of hot water with a half lemon squeezed in it, if possible, and drink it a half hour or less before breakfast.

Take a few minutes of bending exercise and breathing in the morning. Walk in the outdoor air. Occasionally, say, once a week, take a good laxative, one that is entirely vegetable. A good one is that made up of the extract of May-apple, vegetable oil, and jalap, and can be had at every drug store, for it has been sold for nearly 50 years as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

If you are occasionally troubled with rheumatic pains or lumbago, pain in the back, toes or muscles of the body, this is due to uric acid stored in the system. The liver and kidneys do not act properly. For such a person, I advise taking Anurie (double strength) three times daily for a week or two. This Anurie throws out the uric acid which accumulates, and if taken occasionally will prevent or cure rheumatism and gout. There is no difficulty in obtaining Anurie at any drug store.

All members of the Episcopal church who have recently become residents of Portsmouth are urged to take the first opportunity of getting in touch with their church and rector.

The Episcopal church is located at the corner of Fourth and Court streets. Before leaving the church please give your name and address to one of the ushers or wait to speak to the rector. If you have your canonical letter of transfer present it to the rector at once. Rector's letters of transfer are addressed to priests of the church only and may not lawfully be presented to ministers of the various Christian denominations. You are urged to come to your own church and to ignore all attempts to induce you to leave it. # VALLEY VIEW

"THE GREATEST LAND PROPOSITION IN THIS COUNTRY. THERE IS ABSOLUTELY NOTHING LIKE IT."

This was the comment made by one of our customers who looked over our Little Farms and Big Lots at Valley View and bought two of them yesterday. He had looked at every parcel of the rich land comprising our subdivision; HE HAD SEEN THE BEAUTIFUL HOME JUST AS YOU SAW IT IN THE PICTURE; he was fully satisfied that there is not a parcel of the entire subdivision that is not actually worth—RIGHT NOW—the highest price to which the Little Farms and Big Lots will soon be advanced—$245.00 each; and he satisfied himself that there are more than seventy of our Little Farms and Big Lots that have present values of from two to thirty times the uniform selling prices. He saw Little Farms of 3 1-2 acres; 4 acres; 6 acres; with $7000.00 improvements; and 13 acres; WORTH $900; $1200; $2000 and $8000 respectively selling for $225 to $245 each—NO LESS—NO MORE. Besides this our customer saw about seventy other rich pieces of ground in Valley View worth from $400 to $700 each, selling at the same uniform prices.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, trouble, work, statistics, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, O. Office Phone 20.

Dear Miss Wise—Will you please give me a list of reducing exercises and a list of non-fattening foods? Please let me know if there is anything to pay.

HEAVY WEIGHT.

Very nearly any exercise that twists the body is a good reducing exercise. For foods, oysters, fish, gluten bread, lettuce, green vegetables, fruits (except grapes and bananas), meat, jellies, tomatoes, peppers, olives, pickles. Fowl is not very fattening. However, it is the combination of foods rather than the kinds that makes one fat. There is never any charge for advice, I am always glad to be of help.

Miss Wise—Can you tell me the salary of a United States surgeon? Also can get information re the requirements for a nurse?

ANXIOUSLY WAITING. Surgeons are not listed in State Army Pay. Write to the superintendent of the hospital you would like for application blanks, or Miss Hilda Strong, superintendent of Hempstead hospital.

Miss Wise—I have a 3c stamp in 1859 and a 50c stamp in 1871. Please tell me their value. How is my writing?

3-CENT PIECE. Dates mentioned are not your writing and spelling good.

SOCIETY

The pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Bannon, Jr., was the scene of a quiet, but beautiful wedding, at high noon today, when Mrs. Bannon's sister, Miss Marjorie Pursell, and Mr. Ralph Bernard Sullivan, of Columbus, were married in the presence of the relatives and a few most intimate friends. The rooms were attractive with a tasteful arrangement of yellow daisies and ferns, yellow and white being the color tone of the wedding. There were no attendants, the wedding being as simple as possible on account of a recent death in the family. Just previous to the ceremony Miss Gertrude Schmidt sang sweetly "What's In the Air Today," with piano accompaniment by Mrs. John Doniphan Owen, sister of the bride, who also played the wedding march. The impressive Methodist Episcopal ring ceremony was said by Rev. Mr. Chandler, pastor of Bigelow church. The charming bride was attired in a handsome gown of white Georgette crepe and net, made over pussy willow taffeta. The skirt was short and the bodice cut V-neck with long net sleeves. Her veil of tulle was caught to the hair with a spray of delicate white lilies, and she carried a bouquet of white lilies and valley lilies. After the ceremony a luncheon was served in the dining-room. At one large table fourteen young friends of the bride and groom were served. The table was attractive with decorations of pale yellow daisies. The places being marked with cards hand-painted in daisies. Among the sixty guests present were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Sullivan; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sullivan, Dr. and Mrs. Clark Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sullivan, Jr., all of Dayton, relatives of the groom; Mrs. John Doniphan Owen, of Lynchburg, Va., sister of the bride; Miss Beatrice Nave, of San Diego, Cal.; Miss Ruth Jackson, of Delaware; Mrs. Starling Pearce, of Indianapolis, Ind.; Mrs. Robert Miller Adair, of Columbus; and Mr. Lester Howard, of Detroit, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan left on the afternoon train for the East to spend a week, after which they will return to Columbus to reside at 389 Maynard avenue. Mrs. Sullivan wore a handsome tailored suit of blue serge, blue Georgette crepe waist and blue hat.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Pursell, and is one of Portsmouth's loveliest girls. She is a graduate of the Portsmouth High school and also of the O. W. U., Delaware. Mr. Sullivan, a fine young man, who was also a student at O. W. U., Delaware, is manager of the Retail Merchants' Association of Columbus, and is secretary of the Ohio Retail Dry Goods Association, with headquarters in Columbus. They were the recipients of most beautiful gifts, which will be useful in their pretty home.

The Duplicate Whist Club will be entertained next Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. O. LeBaron.

Red—Alternanthera, White—Sempervivum variegatum, Blue—Echeveria secunda glauca, Flagstaff—Acalypha maculosa, Stars—Echeveria glauca extensa. Cut these names out and keep them. Cause you can't remember them five minutes.

Gonnelieu after sharp fighting, taking a number of prisoners, the report said. "An enemy party attempted to enter our trenches in the neighborhood of Fauquissart, but were repulsed. Artillery firing was active at a number of places during the night."

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, April 21.—The French out-Hindenburg Hindenburg in their great offensive.

It is possible today for the first time to reveal some of the strategy which to date has swept the French forces on in their greatest victory in general offensive since the war began.

It was the same strategy superior that enable the French to force the Germans' acceptance of the ground previously chosen by the French as the site of the battle of the Marne. In the same fashion the French forced the Germans to accept the site of the present battle of the Aisne—on ground carefully selected by the French strategists from Soissons to Aubervie.

Hindenburg's strategic retreat was for the purpose of forcing the French to accept battle on ground which the German staff had chosen before the Hindenburg line. That strategy has now failed. The French did not choose Hindenburg's line as the main point of their offensive. Likewise all the wanton destruction in the pathway of the German retreat—the raising of trees and villages—done to interfere with the allies' advance, has now proved utterly useless as a military step completely unjustifiable. The battle of the Aisne is now in sixth day. It will likely continue for weeks before a decisive moment is reached, according to the general impression among strategists at the front. Along the forty odd miles of fighting line there are three general sections, where the topography of the country makes three natural divisions. To the left is the section from Soissons to Craonne, the center lies between Craonne and Rheims and the right is between Rheims and Aubervie. Information obtainable here at the front today was that these divisions are likely to undergo modifications, with the possibility always of a great extension of the front.

Today the battle is raging everywhere along the three divisions with incredible fury. The great struggle subdivides itself into numerous smaller engagements. They may seem meaningless little or big clashes—but every one of them tend to a common objective fixed long before hand.

Scarcely an hour of the day or night does not witness at some point either an attack or the repulse of a counter-attack. They are always indicated by a sudden rise to terrific intensity of the ceaseless artillery roll along fronts of one, two, three or more miles.

Although these battles are furious in their intensity only the artillery is usually visible as the sign of the conflict—because the infantry fights its way forward under the cover of forests, ravines and valleys, or slips through former German trenches.

The ability of the French to bombard without limit any point at any time is what permits the absolute certainty of an advance. Such a concentration of fire as the French pour in where they want it, completely wipes out every defensive device known to German genius or constructed by German labor since 1914.

But if the actual fighting battle front does not reveal the presence of troops, immediately to the rear there is everywhere visible a gigantic concentration of men, munitions and material. The valleys, woods and ravines are filled with cavalry, infantry, hatched batteries, munition trains, automobiles, trucks, cannon—all either advancing or awaiting the word to dash to the front. There is a forward movement everywhere.

PARIS, April 21.—More ground was gained by French attacks north of Rheims today while General Nivelle's forces beat back German attacks upon the positions around Mont Haut, which were wrested from the enemy a few days ago.

The French official statement, announcing these details of the past 24 hours, fighting, declared heavy losses had been inflicted upon the Germans in the Mont Haut repulse.

"Artillery was active during the night north of Aisne in the region of Nannul La Pesse and Hauteville," the statement said. "Cannonading was particularly violent east of Craonne and north of Rheims."

"French forces gained ground in grenade fighting south of Juvin-court and east of Courcy. (Juvin-court lies five miles due east of Craonne and about 15 miles northwest of Rheims. Courcy is five miles northwest of Rheims.)"

"A German attack on Mont Haut was repulsed with losses to the enemy."

"French detachments raided German lines west of Maison De Champagne, imprisoning forty Germans."

LONDON, April 21.—Berlin's official version of the general strike by wireless from a German station today, denied any rioting in the German capital and declared it "already settled."

"There were no riots or fierce street fighting in Berlin during the strike, which is already settled," the wireless claimed. "The only unusual incidents were when a few hundred factory boys gathered at a few points and were dispersed by the police without difficulty. Their proceedings were directed against the building formerly occupied as the French embassy."

BERLIN, (Via London), April 21.—Repulse of all French attacks was asserted in today's official statement.

"Around Hauteville Tarn French local attacks were repulsed," the war office said. "At Brimont Franco-Russian troops were repulsed with severe losses, and at Chemin Des Dames likewise."

"Around Rheims and in the Argonne we penetrated the enemy's lines and imprisoned a number."

"Around Braye from the plains of Paisy as far as the Hollow East of Craonne and also between Prosmes and Suippes stubborn attacks were delivered."

ought to treat as a necessary supplement to this plan, the utilizing of volunteers who would not be reached under the obligatory plan—who will not and ought not to be asked to volunteer in the regular army or the national guard; but who have special fitness for the war and who will come forward eagerly to serve if they are to be sent abroad at the earliest possible minute.

"The obligatory service idea is capital to make those serve who ought to do something and who ought not to let it be twisted into preventing those who ardently desire to serve from serving—even although they would be exempt from serving under the obligatory law."

The colonel was asked how he felt toward Germany.

"I am utterly against any 'hymn of hate' in this country as against any nationality," he exclaimed. "Let us have our 'hymn of hate' against that system of organized tyranny which has made Germany a menace to the world—as a sequence of itself becoming the evil genius of what was best and noblest in the German character. We are fighting in the spirit of Andreas Hofer and of those Germans who led the fight against the tyranny of Napoleon. France—when we now rally the free peoples of the world against tyrannous militarism which would destroy all freedom."

"Once we have destroyed that tyranny we shall hail the Germans as our brothers and we shall eagerly hope to admit them to the fellowship of free peoples."

Colonel Roosevelt was here reminded of the fact that in the past he had differed sharply in matters political with the president under whom he now sought to serve.

"Once this country is at war," he answered quietly, emphasizing his staccato utterances with clenched fists, "I recognize no partisanship and no distinction of parties. Let us all stand shoulder to shoulder without the slightest regard to ordinary partisan considerations—without the slightest regard to our differences on internal subjects—pledged all of us alike to war for the honor of the flag and the interests of mankind."

Conscription

in which Baker pleaded with the committee to report out a strict selective draft bill was published with the report.

The minority declares that "the majority of the committee, have seen fit to set their own views on the raising of the proper military forces for the successful conduct of the war, above the views of the trained military experts of the government. In this great crisis we deem it to be our patriotic duty in this manner of increasing temporarily the military establishment of the United States to follow the council of the command-in-chief of our army and his expert advisers. We desire to follow the plan which they have laid down for us in this manner rather than follow any plan which we ourselves might devise."

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—Opponents of the conscription army bill this afternoon started filibuster tactics to delay the measure in the senate. Senator Thompson demanded the regular order and consideration of the "spy" bill at the expiration of "morning business."

At the urgent request of President Wilson, the "spy" bill was side-tracked to clear the way for the army bill.

The bill provides for getting the 600,000 men needed to raise regular army and national guard to their full war strength, through volunteers and for getting an army of one million men by selective draft.

Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the military affairs committee, explained the first provision would authorize both the regular army and national guard raised to war strength—a total of 20,878 officers and 614,730 enlisted men.

"This is the largest volunteer force ever called for in the United States," said Chamberlain.

At the same time 500,000 men between the ages of 19 and 25 would be immediately selected and put into training. Another 500,000 would be selected later.

The selective draft will make available about six million men. Of this vast army about 3,500,000 would be fit physically.

"Only about one-half of that number would be taken and for that reason we are resorting to selective draft," Chamberlain said.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—The house military committee today voted 12 to 8 to report out the general staff army bill with an amendment "authorizing" the president to call for volunteers if he wishes to before selective draft is resorted to. Representative Caldwell, New York, who previously had voted for the volunteer provision, voted "present."

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—Predicting serious "draft riots" if conscription goes into effect, a score of anti-conscriptionists appeared before the senate military affairs committee today. The committee granted the mutis two hours to put their objections on record.

Joseph Cannon, labor leader and organizer, said: "There will be strikes, prices will be raised from war exploitation and blood is going to flow in the streets. We are going into war to establish democracy in Germany and in so doing we are establishing autocracy in the United States."

Flags Of Foreign Nations To Fly From Public Buildings

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—For the first time in history flags of a foreign nation are to fly from a public building in Washington. French and British flags will be displayed on either side of the American flag over the entrance to the state, war and navy department building, while the British and French war commissions are in Washington.

Synchronizing with "America Day" in London, the British embassy here flew the Stars and Stripes yesterday—the first time a foreign flag ever flew from the embassy.

Interned In Kansas City City As War Prisoner

KANSAS CITY, MO., April 21.—Anton Haverkamp arrested in Kansas City April 11, as a German spy, was interned here today as a prisoner of war, the first prisoner in the middlewest. Haverkamp has been sent to Fort Riley.

District Attorney Francis M. Wilson received a telegram from the war department at Washington ordering Haverkamp interned at Fort Riley.

When Haverkamp was arrested he had maps of the coast, inland waterways, maps of cities and clock works such as are used in bombs. He could not make a satisfactory explanation to the federal court. Haverkamp is a Prussian, 55, and has lived in Kansas City, ten years, working as a day laborer.

PLAN MEASURES TO PREVENT FOOD FROM REACHING THE ENEMY

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—Measures to prevent food and supplies reaching the enemy through the peace time American trade channels to the Scandinavians are under preparation by the administration, it was learned today.

The problem is one of a general series of "trading with the enemy" restrictions being worked out by the special committee composed of a representative each of the state, justice and commerce departments.

Legislation to seal an air tight economic blockade about the Central Powers is expected to be presented to congress shortly.

While the United States went on record against the principle of the commercial black list, some means, it was stated must, and will be found to prevent Swedish and Danish merchants from acting as go-betweens for Germany.

The government also faces the problem of preventing German-American traders here from shoveling supplies through the Scandinavians via German or quasi-German confederates there.

That this country will refuse to enter into any general blacklisting of German merchants in neutral countries is believed certain however.

Mr. and Mrs. Renter

Let's each take a pencil and piece of paper and figure. Let's see if you are not buying your landlord a house rather than one for yourself.

Now let's see HOW YOU can buy a home of your own rather than be a renter.

We know where there is a new five room cottage, with lot 50 feet front by one hundred eighty-three feet deep, located in a new section, three minutes walk from traction line, near churches, schools and right among desirable neighbors, with plenty of good ground for a garden and chickens that can be bought for $2550.00.

After figuring it all over you will find that $250.00 cash and $25 per month, (which you would otherwise pay as rent) will buy this home, but wait, out of that $25.00 you pay monthly, only $12.48 is the interest, (your rent) the balance of the $25.00 or $12.52 will be applied to the purchase of your HOME, and soon permits you to own it.

Now then don't you figure that this is better than paying it to a landlord? If you do, come in and let us go all over it in detail.

AMERICA MAY HAVE TO FURTHER CENTRALIZE GOVERNMENT FOR WAR

WASHINGTON, April 21.—America may have to centralize her government further for war times, just as England and France have done.

The reason for this, in the view of many here, is that at present many administrative duties are overlapping—if not actually conflicting. The food situation is a striking example of the problem before the government. Three distinct agencies are discussing it, or wanting to probe it to the bottom—the agriculture department, the federal trade commission and the National Council of Defense.

That there may be just a trace of friction in these three divergent elements was indicated by the remark of Secretary of Agriculture Houston when asked if Herbert Hoover, acting for national council, would be in charge of food investigation.

Why, I thought the secretary of agriculture would be in charge," Houston replied. Another instance of where the government branches apparently fail to team together fully is indicated from the fact that Sunday President Wilson appealed to the country for its service and to practice economy. A few days later, Howard Coffin of the National Defense issued a statement explaining what kind of economy to practice and virtually saying "don't practice extraordinary economy."

Reports are current that some of the government branches are not entirely pleased at the National Council of Defense with its divergent views. In the circumstances, there is talk here today that something may have to be done to give a broader central control—for the war only.

Importance Attached To Commission To Russia

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—The belief that Russia affords the most delicate as well as the most important problem before the United States and allied governments, the greatest attention is today being centered on the selection of a committee to be sent to Petrograd for conference with the Russian government heads.

Elihu Root, Oscar Strauss, Professor Harper, of Chicago University, Colonel Roosevelt and Charles R. Crane, are among those being seriously considered to represent the United States in its movement to vitalize the new Russian government.

In addition to the regular commissioners there will be a supporting body of engineers, railroad experts and economists, who will take up with the Russian government plans for putting the transportation system and finances of the country on rock foundations.

It is probable announcement of the American commission to Russia will await the first conference here between officials of this government and those of the Entente allies.

WORKMAN KILLED IN FALL FROM C. & O. N. BRIDGE

Joseph Anderson, aged 28, a riveter employed on the new C. & O. N. bridge at Seiotoville, fell a distance of 130 feet ten minutes after he went to work at 7 o'clock Saturday morning and was killed instantly. He was working on top of the bridge and it is presumed that he lost his balance. There were no eye witnesses to the start of the accident. In falling Anderson's head came in contact with an iron sway brace and his head was split open. His brains were oozing out when fellow bridgemen reached his body, which lodged in the deck of the bridge. Coroner J. W. Daehler was called and will investigate the fatality. Anderson, according to officials at the bridge had been working at Seiotoville for a month, coming there from his home in Maryville, Tenn., where his wife is still located. He is said to have worked on a number of big bridge jobs and was an experienced structural iron worker. His parents reside in Knoxville, Tenn., and they, with the wife, were notified of Anderson's tragic death this morning. The body has been moved to Daehler's morgue. Since work on the superstructure of the bridge was started, four men have fallen to tragic deaths. The last victim was Elmer Jackel, who was killed in a 120 foot fall several months ago. His home was in Michigan.

Health Exhibit Closed Friday Night, Was Splendid Success

In your third and fourth grade romances, did you swap pencils?

Did you beg your seat-mate to let you use his bright blue pencil to do your arithmetic? You were doubly sure of getting a hundred in arithmetic if you used that pencil. And you were just as apt to get a lot of other things, diphtheria, measles, whooping cough, scarlet fever, tuberculosis, infantile paralysis or just ordinary cold.

The reasons were explained by Dr. Frank G. Boudreau last night at the high school auditorium. He told "facts about common diseases" at the closing meeting held in connection with the Ohio State Board of Health's Exhibit. Dr. Boudreau is the health expert retained by the state board to trace causes of epidemics in communities and to see that a proper quarantine is enforced where serious disease outbreaks are reported.

Dr. John R. McDowell, who spoke on "The Prevention of Tuberculosis in Ohio," has charge of the educational and publicity work of the State Board of Health, and is also conducting the state campaign against tuberculosis. John E. Williams introduced the speakers.

"We have heard so much about germs all our lives that we sometimes think it would have been better if Pasteur had not been so industrious with his microscope back in the 'fifties," when he found that germs had some relation to disease. But no, we would not be just as happy, for by means of this knowledge we are able to prevent and cure all manner of ailments."

Dr. Boudreau told of three kinds of tuberculosis bacilli: That which causes consumption in human beings; bovine, or that which causes it in cattle and that which causes it in birds. He said "ten per cent of all milk contains bovine tuberculosis germs, which cause bone, gland and joint tuberculosis."

"Infected milk is a cause of much typhoid fever. Typhoid germs must be swallowed."

As a preventive Dr. Boudreau urged careful inspection of all dairies, the pasteurization of milk and use of certified milk for infants.

"The typhoid fever fly is another means of spreading the disease. The common drinking cup is another carrier."

"There are 600 deaths a year in Ohio from diphtheria. Antitoxin will cure every case if given early and given in small quantities to well persons prevents diphtheria."

"Children having colds in the head should be kept at home when measles and whooping cough are prevalent. These diseases are spread during the first three or four days, by excretions from the mouth and nose. Complications resulting from measles and whooping cough are pneumonia, bronchitis, hemorrhage, convulsions, meningitis."

"Measles and whooping cough should be reported. There should be isolation of well children, rigid quarantine of those infected and school inspection."

Theatrical World Mourns Death of Three Big Favorites

NEW YORK, April 21.—For the second time within a week death has checked the laughter and the song of Broadway. The theatrical district today mourns the loss of three men who contributed much to its life, its art and its works which made the world a little brighter.

The "tin woodman" will never oil his creaky joints again; the man who first produced "Ben Hur" and who directed the elaborate staging of "Humpty Dumpty," "Beauty and the Beast," and other famous musical productions, will never again add his artistic touch to an author's work. The diamonds which flashed en masse from the front row on all "opening nights" are scattered.

Broadway was still discussing the possibility of contests over "Diamond Jim's" will when word came yesterday of the death of both Montgomery and Teal. Montgomery—long known as the partner of Fred Stone—died in Chicago after a month's illness. Teal died in a sanitarium here. Montgomery was born in St.

Joseph, Mo., in 1879. He started his career with a medicine show. Teal came from California.

Miss Mary Terry, who has been ill at her home on Second street, for several weeks, is improving.

How America Will Recruit Her Army

Raising armies is more difficult, as well as more important, than raising flags, and one of the chief difficulties in the United States is the feeling against conscription. "There is enough patriotism in this country to get a volunteer army, and until that is demonstrated untrue we should not resort to conscription," declares Senator Thomas of Colorado, while Senators Stone of Missouri, and Gallinger of New Hampshire are among those who think the recruiting problem can be best solved by increasing the soldiers' pay. Among Southern congressmen also, we find opposition to universal service on the ground that it would be inadvisable to give thousands of negroes training in the use of arms. Samuel Gompers is also reported to be against conscription.

On the other hand, a recent canvass of 476 newspapers by the National Security League revealed 270 of them in favor of universal military training, 49 opposed to it, and 157 non-committal. The Milwaukee Sentinel may be said to reflect the consensus of argument in favor of obligatory military training: "Under the voluntary system in time of war, the serviceable manhood of the nation is divided into two parts. There are the patriotic young men who volunteer to go to the front and, if need be, die in order that the nation may live; and there are the slackers who are perfectly willing to sacrifice the other fellows on the altar of patriotism. That is not a democratic arrangement. A democracy which offers equality of opportunity, has a right to exact in return equality of service."

"The Digest" Policy in War and Peace

The entry of this nation into the war will have no effect upon the general policy of THE LITERARY DIGEST to give all the news from all sides. Every loyal American and Canadian will be anxious to know what the enemy is saying and doing, to understand his view-point, and to form as clear an idea as possible of the trend of public feeling among the nations arrayed against us. To the extent, then, that this is compatible with the interests of our country, THE DIGEST will continue to print the news, from whatever point it may come, holding it to be the desire of every true patriot to know the exact situation. To crystallize the view-point of the day, in all lands, including our own, and to present it as accurately as possible to the reader, is the aim, now as ever, of this foremost of new-magazines. Read it and judge the result for yourself.

A CERTAIN COWARDICE IN BEING AFRAID TO DISCUSS PEACE, SAYS SHAW

LONDON, April 21.—There's a certain cowardice in being afraid to discuss peace, in the view of G. Bernard Shaw, novelist, dramatist, critic, essayist—and pacifist. Because his views at this present juncture when news of Socialist efforts for peace are of particular interest, he was asked what he thought of the situation.
"The alarm thus created," he said, discussing the Stockholm report on Socialist conferences, "is in consequence of the mistake made by all anti-German belligerents, except President Wilson, of not announcing at the outset that they were desirous for peace and were open at any moment to proposals to end the horrors of war."
"The Germans first saw the moral advantage of this position and declared they were ready to discuss peace. It was the allies' business thereupon to outdo the Germans and to represent themselves as willing to sacrifice everything except honor and reasonable security for peace. Unfortunately, they gave way to ridiculous panic lest a handful of helpless pacifists—most of whom were in prison—should instantly stop the war, leaving Germany in possession of her conquests."
"Their reply which enabled Germany to denounce them as moral outlaws, was expressed in the manner of a gang frightened by blustering pirates, instead of civilized statesmen engaged in a crusade."
"The Stockholm scare is a part of the same panic of cowardice that is afraid to discuss peace."

Over three hundred thousand now in use!

That is the history of the car that built Overland because it represented integrity of value.

The Overland Big Four of this season and its twin—except for the motor—the Overland Light Six, are the direct outcome of all this development.

More than three hundred thousand owners and more than four thousand dealer and factory-branch organizations have assisted this development by their experience with these cars and their helpful suggestions of improvements.

In their new beauty, in their perfected easy riding qualities, in their proven sturdiness and mechanical excellence, in their admitted tire, fuel and oil economy, these cars are worthy of the confidence we have, that they will further enhance Overland prestige.

The Wanted Extras Which Most Cars Still Omit Come See if You Want Them

See how Mitchells differ from other cars you see. See the extras in equipment, in strength and beauty which our methods offer

There are many, many ways in which Mitchells differ from other cars. They have many features which other cars omit. All are paid for by factory savings, due to John W. Bate.

They have bodies built in our own plant, from our own exclusive models.

They have luxuries and beauties which are rare. We have lately added 24 per cent to the cost of finish, upholstery and trimming. And the savings made in this new body plant pay it all.

They Cost $4,000,000

These Mitchell extras, on this year's output, will cost us $4,000,000. Just for features which others go without.

They would be impossible, at Mitchell prices, without our factory efficiency. This whole plant has been built and equipped to build this one type economically. Millions have been spent, under John W. Bate, to cut our factory cost in two.

The result is, fine cars built for less than anyone else could build them. See how much less. The Mitchell extras show you.

Unique Features

There are 31 distinct extra features in the Mitchells of this year. That is, things like a power tire pump, a dashboard engine primer, reversible headlights, a locked compartment. Things you want, but which most cars don't include.

There is heat-fixed finish this year—deep, lustrous and enduring. There is rare-grade leather upholstery. There are wide seats, deep springs, and countless dainty touches. If we bought our bodies, the Mitchell prices could not include these things.

100% Over-Strength

But the greatest Mitchell extra is the double strength in every vital part. We have doubled our margins of safety in three years.

Over 440 parts are built of toughened steel. Safety parts are vastly oversize. Parts which get a major strain are built of Chrome-Vanadium.

Gears are tested for 50,000 pounds per tooth. Engines for 10,000 miles without visible wear. Springs for indefinite service. Not one Bate cantilever spring has broken in two years.

The object of this extra strength is a lifetime car. Also safety, low upkeep and small repairs.

Now In Two Sizes

This year we bring out Mitchell Junior. So you can get the Mitchell standards in two sizes, at two prices.

Mitchell Junior is a 5-passenger car. Yet it has a 120-inch wheelbase and a 40-horsepower motor. All the room and power you need in a car for five. And more than most such cars.

See these two sizes with all their new improvements, their various styles of bodies. See the extra features, extra strength and beauty. You will want these things in your car.

Please come now if you want spring delivery. The Mitchell factory is already far behind.

Do You Want A Free Garden?

Employees of Whitaker-Glessner Co., Portsmouth Salvage Co., Breece Mfg. Co., Peebles Paving Brick Co., Portsmouth Water Works, Carlyle Brick Co. and Scioto Star Brick Works, especially note: The coming week in Milldale, the owners, L. C. Turley and Alan N. Jordan, will plow gardens extending at intervals for one mile up north and east up Milldale Road and a mile up Dunlap Road which branches off from Milldale Road at the church. The family of any of the employees named may have a small garden plot, already plowed and ready for the rake and seed without rent or charge of any character. If the lot upon which they locate should be sold before the garden is matured, then they shall have their choice of receiving pay in money for their work upon same, in no event to exceed $20.00, purchasing it at same price and terms as the proposed buyer. This is inserted to protect you against possibility of sale by the owners. Look at the proposition after the plowing is done next week—but it would be well to do it early if you want one of the best gardens. See Houston Riskey over at Milldale or telephone him at No. 1433-X.

New Boston completed the Milldale fill and bridge last week. When crossing Millbrook Lake at Gallia look north and you will see it. The surveyors are surveying this week and Turley & Jordan will be plowing gardens next week. Take Munn's Run Road north to Milldale Road one square north of Stewartville big brick school house—four squares up Munn's Run Road from Gallia street, New Boston. adv 1t

D. E. Thomas and William Gleim. Glen Duis, of the Marting Dry Goods Company, has joined, and has planted a splendid garden.

Maylie I will ship a car load of garden stuff to Belgium, says O. M. Coburn, Sr., 1423 Spring avenue, who is planting onions, peas and other vegetables.

Every one with strength enough to lift a hoe and a daily hour or so of spare time, in the early morning or late afternoon, is invited to make himself a present of $50 or $100 this spring in the form of the quantity of vegetables fresh from the garden which these sums will buy.

Previous experience is not necessary. The applicant may think that a hoe is a printing press and a spade something needed to fill a flush, but if he enlists in the food gardening movement, can make himself the present of a present.

When the school and home gardening movements started in the United States a score of years ago few persons foresaw that some day this miniature farming of urban lots might prove of great economic benefit to the entire population. Up to the present the movement has been fostered as a social service—to give boys and girls habits of industry, and to afford to dwellers in congested districts, enjoyable, healthful and profitable occupation in their leisure, with incidental aid in beautifying cities and towns by cleaning up the back yards and vacant lots.

But the present food crisis makes these idle lands an important source of food supply.

Here's the chance you have been looking for, you residents of East Portsmouth and men of the manufacturing plants east of the city. The ground is right near your work—two miles of garden space. Up the Milldale Road lies this ground and the owners, L. C. Turley and Alan N. Jordan are going to plow it up next week. The family of any employee of the Whitaker-Glessner company, Portsmouth Salvage company, Breece Manufacturing company, Peebles Paving Brick company, Portsmouth Water Works, Carlyle Brick company, and Scioto Star Brick Works, may have free a small garden plot and it will be already for the rake and seeds. It will be absolutely free.

In order to protect anyone starting a garden on this ground from the possibility of sale by the owners they provide that if the lot is sold before the garden is matured, the gardeners shall have their choice of receiving pay, not to exceed $20 for their work, or of purchasing it at the same price and terms as the proposed buyer. For particulars see Houston Riskey at Milldale or phone him. 1433-X.

Flag Presentation To Be Memorable Event

A beautiful flag has been purchased by the men's bible class of the First Presbyterian church and will be presented by them at the morning service next Sunday at 10:30 o'clock. A splendid 60 foot galvanized steel flag staff was set in concrete on the church property Friday afternoon by the Peebles Paving Brick company, and is in readiness for the flag raising at the close of the service Sunday morning when two regular army men delegated by Captain Keyes of Company K, will raise the flag according to the army regulations. The following organizations have been invited to attend the service and have signified their intention of attending: Company K; G. A. R.; Woman's Relief Corps; D. A. R.; Spanish War Veterans; Sons of Veterans and Boy Scouts. Dr. S. D. Buggles, president of the men's bible class, will present the flag and it will be received by Mr. Lucien Doty, president of the board of trustees, on behalf of the church. The pastor of the church, Rev. M. S. Bush, will deliver an address on "Our Flag." The offering at the services will be for the benefit of the Navy League and the Red Cross work.

WILL SPEAK IN LOCAL BAPTIST CHURCHES

Rev. H. F. Stilwell, D. D., superintendent of Evangelism of the American Baptist Home Mission Society in the states of West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri, will speak in the Baptist churches of the city tomorrow. He will be with the Kendall Avenue church in the closing period of the Sunday school and will preach for Pastor Oaudill of the First church in the morning worship service. In the evening he will preach in the Hutches Street church. He will deliver an address before the Ministers' Association, in the United Brethren church, Monday morning, at nine o'clock. His topic for this address will be, "The Challenge of the Hour." This meeting of the Association is open to the public to hear this address. Dr. Stilwell was the successful pastor of the First Baptist church of Cleveland, O., for thirteen years, and during that time was president of the Ohio Baptist convention for five successive years. His sane, Christian counsel is always a comfort to his brethren, and we bespeak for him a sympathetic hearing in our city.

THE TRIUMPH OF DEMOCRACY

The rector will preach a special sermon at All Saints' church on Sunday evening on "The Triumph of Democracy and the Coming of the King." The recent happenings in Europe will be thoroughly discussed in this sermon and their relation to these United States will be duly considered. The sermon is addressed to all men with red blood in their veins, who are not afraid to think and to follow recent events to their logical conclusions. You will be interested in this sermon. Come and hear it. At the morning service the rector will preach on "Living Epistles." This sermon will deal with religious incarnate and will also give expression to the spirit of the times. Come to both these services. Their aim is to help you to think and useful living.

Free Street Car Service

The effort to secure large lots, close to the street car lines, close to the big industries, and on high ground, will be greatly helped on next Wednesday when the Bowman Realty Co., of Huntington, W. Va., will offer the Frank Cranston farm, on the heights at Wheelersburg, for sale. The farm is one of the finest in this rich valley and it has been divided into large lots, many of them an acre or more in size. This is just the proper moment to offer these to the public for every thoughtful man is planning to have a garden and thus fight old High Cost of Living. The owners of this valuable farm have put no restrictions on the selling agency, but has instructed them to "let her go." Great interest in the proposed sale has been shown all along the traction line. Free cars to the sale will be run the morning and afternoon of the sale, Wednesday, April 25, commencing at 9:30 a. m., and 1:30 p. m. It will be a great chance for the man who has been cooped up on a little low lot to get up 50 feet above the high water line and yet be so handy to his work. 21-1t

The Brotherhood

The rector desires to suggest that it is time some members of the Brotherhood showed up on Sunday morning. Don't take summer by the forelock. There are many weeks yet before you are justified in letting the "Summer Slump" in. Let us have a better attendance tomorrow than has been the rule for the past few weeks. The way to make this possible is for you to come. Tomorrow's session will be devoted to a full resume of the ground covered previously in dealing with the history of our church. It will afford you an opportunity to regain lost ground in some measure. Don't lose this opportunity.

GET UP ON TIME

Get Big Ben to help work that garden. One hour in the morning is worth two in the evening. He never fails to call you whenever you state the time. The national alarm clock $2.50. Little Ben $2.50. Other alarm clocks $1.25, $2.00.

Patriotism Is Rampant

Anyone stepping into the plant of the Selby Shoe Company these days is immediately struck with the high visibility of the patriotism in evidence. This huge factory is decorated with patriotic emblems from the basement to the top floor. It is noteworthy that this work was initiated and carried out entirely by the employees.

First a few flags appeared from somewhere, others caught the spirit and followed, and soon departments were in active competition for decorative honors, vying with each other to see who could display the greatest ingenuity, until now no matter what direction one turns we are confronted with flags and more flags and endless yards of bunting. Crossed flags, flags erect and flags drooping, large suspended flags, lonely flags, flags in twos and threes and clusters all mobilized to show the high respect in which Uncle Sam is held. In utter disregard of the high cost of living the kingly potato has been ruthlessly sacrificed to form the basis for many bristly small flags. Flags are kept active by fans or ride with the motion of the machinery. Bunting is stretched, hung, draped and otherwise maneuvered to catch the eye and tell its story.

No department was immune from the infection.

Naturally the heaviest ammunition has been expended in the factory departments where mass formations and bulk are necessary to create an impression. In the office on the other hand every advantage has been taken of strategic locations to obtain ingenious and artistic effect where the girls have fests. In the fitting department every window with potted plants the addition of the national insignia brings a most pleasing result.

Aspinall McCuaig, a lecturer of great ability and national reputation

Dr. J. Aspinall McCuaig, Noted Preacher, To Be Here Sunday

Announcement that Dr. J. Aspinall McCuaig, the celebrated preacher, lecturer and writer of New York, will speak four times in the city tomorrow will be of interest to hundreds of persons of Portsmouth who have heard Doctor McCuaig in other large cities of the state.

These Sunday addresses will be introductory to a course of lectures to be delivered by Dr. McCuaig, each afternoon and evening of next week. The afternoon lectures, which will take place at 3:30 o'clock, will be for women only; and the night addresses at 7:30 for both men and women. All of these week meetings will be held in the Bigelow Methodist Episcopal church.

At 10:30 a. m. Sunday he will occupy the pulpit at the Bigelow M. E. church and will speak on "God's Need of Men."

At 2:30 in the same church he will address a mass meeting of men of Portsmouth on the theme, "What Education Does A Man Need for Marriage?"

Immediately following the men's meeting at 4 p. m. in the Bigelow M. E. church, Dr. McCuaig will address a mass meeting of women. His subject at this time will be "How Girls Fall."

At 7 p. m. a union meeting of several of the city churches will be held in the Trinity M. E. church, when Dr. McCuaig will speak on "Conditions in American Cities."

As educational head of the National Christian League for the Promotion of Purity, a university lecture on eugenics and popular teacher of right living, Dr. McCuaig enjoys an international reputation.

Of the vastness of his ministry, Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis of Brooklyn, says: "Dr. McCuaig has the greatest message of the twentieth century."

Of the great work accomplished by him in the east a recent magazine article says:

"A most remarkable man has sprung up in the land. He is heralded by many as a prophet, and wherever he goes people flock to him.

"From every town he visits the stories of his influence come. 'He builds no tabernacle, but no building can hold the people when once his grip is upon the community.'"

"Extravagant things have been said of this strange preacher, and many curious persons have been drawn to his ministry by the published statements of his marvellous influence; but the strangest thing of all is that those who are so drawn go forth to declare that 'the half has not been told.'"

Like a whirlwind of righteousness Dr. McCuaig has swept West Virginia and Western Pennsylvania.

Presiding over one of his great meetings in Charleston, Governor Hatfield said recently: "The state of West Virginia will ever be grateful for the burning utterance of Mr. McCuaig and the strong educational foundations he has laid. He speaks with all the passion of the preacher on fire with the evils that have overtaken men; but with the blanching wisdom and skill of a man practiced in the diagnosis of disease and in the prescribing of the sure remedy."

Let us all keep busy, that the interest and attendance may continue to grow. Let us pass through the summer months without any decrease in any way.

Epworth League at 6:45 p. m. Topic, "Courtesy As a Christian Grace." Let all the young people of the church feel that this is your service. The topics are fine. To miss the League is to miss a service that is helpful to all. Come Sunday evening and be convinced.

Praching at 7:30. Subject, "The Best Place in the World."

The prayer service on Thursday evening at 7:30 will be of vital interest to every member of the church. You cannot afford to miss. Begin planning to be there. Subject, "Our Efficiency Campaign."

Two weeks ago some unknown friend wrote an article in The Times in which the work of Wheelersburg Methodist church and Sunday school were spoken of in terms of highest praise. For some reason this article was published in connection with the weekly announcements, which are written by the pastor. The pastor, therefore, begs to take this opportunity to say that the article was not written by him. The people of the church appreciate the words of encouragement, and the reasons for this statement will be self-evident.

"Home of Character" No. 322

An Inexpensive Cottage—By John Henry Newson

This cottage is a good illustration of what can be done with a small house by careful planning.

While the house is only 24x24 feet on the ground it contains a large living room, large dining room and well arranged kitchen with direct access to front hall on the first floor, and three good bedrooms and bath on the second floor. An additional bedroom is provided on the third floor in addition to storage space.

The exterior is finished in lap siding, with slate roof, and the entire interior in yellow pine, with yellow pine floors.

The house is heated by a hot air furnace and the plumbing fixtures are first class.

The cost should not exceed $2500.00 and in most localities the house should be built for considerably less.

Inquiries of Times readers addressed to "John Henry Newson, Homes of Character Dept., The Times," will be given Mr. Newson's prompt attention. Always give the number of the home concerning which inquiry is made, and, as the service is free, the inclosure of a stamp for reply will be appreciated.

SCHOOL CHILDREN OF COUNTY TO HELP IN THE "FOOD DRIVE"

Revised plans for distributing information blanks among the farmers of the Sixteenth District, comprising Scioto, Lawrence, Jackson and Adams counties, have been made, according to R. E. Thomas, secretary of the board of trade, who attended a meeting Friday evening between W. H. Mosier, food commissioner for the National Council for Defense and the rural school authorities.

It is now planned to eliminate the personal visitation feature, and if its place substitute the new plan. Blanks will be distributed among the school children of the rural schools to take home. Those not reached in this manner will be urged to meet at various grange halls.

The "Food Drive" for District No. 16 will be started Tuesday morning with W. H. Mosier of the National Defense Council, II. D. Wehrly, of the Bureau of Community Service and Otto Zoellner, county food commissioner and R. E. Thomas, of the board of trade co-operating.

Every farmer in the county will be asked and urged to assist the authorities in increasing the acreage of foodstuffs in this district. In return every means will be tendered the farmers to secure labor and machinery.

Monday, April 30, an employment bureau will be opened in the city by H. D. Wehrly where men desiring to assist with farm work this spring and summer may register. Farmers desiring assistance can get help by calling the employment office.

W. H. Mosier left Saturday morning for Ironton, where he will confer with Rom Johnson, food commissioner of Lawrence county. Mr. Mosier will return to Portsmouth Monday.

During the "drive" in this district Portsmouth will be the base of operation for Mr. Mosier.

Pending further instruction from the main office of the Ohio

Council, other work contemplated besides distributing the blanks and opening of an employment office will be suspended.

Mrs. Henry Hall, of Court street, who has been ill many weeks, was able to take a drive Thursday, and is improving steadily.

FOUR-FOLD BENEFIT

From Two Grand Medicines in Spring.

You know that physicians often give two prescriptions, perhaps more, or medicines to be taken together, or alternately or at different times.

One reason may be that the medicines are "incompatible"—do not agree when closely mixed in taking—or that desired results cannot be secured by one medicine alone.

The most successful combination spring medicine treatment that we know of—because perfectly "compatible" and productive of the best results—is in Hood's Sarsaparilla and Peppermint Pills. The former thoroughly searches out and expels impurities from the blood, while Peppermint Pills give the much-needed powerful tonic—they literally "put iron into your blood."

Hood's Sarsaparilla should be taken before meals and Peppermint Pills after meals—patients taking them so report the benefit is fourfold—prompt, positive, permanent. Both these medicines are economical

FLAG RAISED OVER FOUNDRY DEPARTMENT

Timmonds for an addition to the McKinley school site was accepted. City Solicitor Skelton was instructed to prepare legislation for the vacation of old Kinney's Lane between the school site and the triangular piece of land bought from S. R. Timmonds. The bond of the Ohio Valley Bank in the sum of $25,000 was approved, the bank being a depository for school money. A delegation of high school students were present and asked the board to fix rules governing class parties and class banquets. The matter was referred to Superintendent Appel, who will present a set of rules at the next meeting of the Board. The teacher's pay roll of $9,000 was allowed.

WILLIE AROUSES THE SLEEPING GIANT

WILL PAY MORE THAN DOUBLY

It is to be hoped that farmers and people generally will receive earnestly and act most energetically upon the suggestion of the president that they devote themselves to wider and more intense cultivation. War, the terrible enterprise upon which we are so near to be thrown, is waged in the modern time more upon the stomach of the armies than ever. There is no question that our factories can supply the munition demands of our soldiers no matter how inconceivable may be their vastness, but there is a doubt that in case the impending conflict wages for a length of time, that it may be able to supply them sufficiently with wholesome food. Every instinct of patriotism calls the citizenry to get ready for the need of that supply right. Let it be remembered that every little bit will help and help most potentially. We see that in the case of Germany. Her farming is the most intense in the world, for years she prepared for the struggle that all saw coming, her people have practiced wonders in self denial, yet her weakness today is undoubtedly her food shortage and of that is born the desperate submarine policy that is involving her with America. The allies are reducing her to starvation by embargo and it is to cause them her own pangs and weakness that she is destroying the commerce of friend and foe alike.

Therefore, every tillable acre, every open lot, every vacant patch should be used in producing wheat, corn, potatoes, beans and other grains and vegetables. On farms principally the four mentioned, but on smaller areas anything that will grow equally abundant will do quite as well because one product consumed lessens the consumption of another. Relatively the cultivation of the small patch is most important, because it will be made to produce to a greater average. The man who realizes this fact and acts upon it is equally patriotic with him of larger domain, who is actuated by similar spirit. Besides there is the incentive of profit. Prices are not going to be low. The war demand will take up any increase and when blessed peace does come again the whole world, except maybe ourselves, will be hungry and need to be fed.

FINDING ITS PLACE

The much condemned and altogether desired automobile is proving that it has a proper and a useful place in the scheme of modern existence.

At Berkeley, California, it has been made a part of the equipment of a policeman, and thereby has earned the esteem of all. The policeman furnishes the car, but the city pays for the gasoline, and oil and besides allows $25 per month for its use.

Each car is equipped with a fire extinguisher, first aid kit and emergency ladder. It makes the work of the individual policeman much more effective, he can cover more territory more frequently, he can answer urgent calls more quickly and can meet far more demands in quite every way.

Incidentally, it abolishes loitering and shirking on the part of policemen and avoids that familiarity with individuals that has such a tendency to make police work ineffective.

All of which is saying a good deal for the automobile. And taking this into consideration with the further facts that it is the most potent advocate of good roads and is adding variety and attractiveness to country life, it has, after all, more to its credit than its discredit.

We regret to announce that the mayor of Ironton did not call us up on the telephone and deliver an oration on the armor plate situation when he visited our fair and thriving village Thursday evening.

The New York Sun readers are so jubilant over the offensive of the French and British armies that they are writing letters to the Sun demanding that peace be dictated in Berlin by the allied generals.

Here are three reasons why you should plant that garden. In 1915 the average price of potatoes in midwinter was 22 cents a peck; in 1916 the average price per peck was 37 cents; in 1917 the average price was 76 cents a peck.

In these columns, ay, passing the eye of the sharp and sapient Dolly Wise, we see someone referring to America as the national anthem. A thousand and seven times we have shouted and shrieked that it is not, but The Star Spangled Banner—long and triumphantly may she wave—is! The first thing anybody knows congress will be called upon to make it treason to maintain or state otherwise.

Takes trouble to make for common sense. New York hotels have taken to printing their menus in just straight "American."

We are confident that those who are planning to give Texas to the Mexicans will have regard enough for formalities to defer the transfer until they secure a quit claim deed from the Texans.—Houston Post.

The best time to kill a fly is right now, just at the time to clean up is today.

Senator Pomerene is forward with a resolution to investigate the raise in the price of flags. If he could be here tonight he would have one reason joyfully presented to his sight. Demand is a price accelerator and the bunting manufacturers were never accused of a lack of appreciation of the fact that the time to make hay was while the sun shone and just now the sun of patriotism is shining brightly.

Of course we are delighted over that specially engraved invitation to attend the loyalty parade at Ironton next week and ride in carriages with prominent citizens, but we will be forced to decline unless we can have the privilege of riding on one of those rusty, obsolete, iron cannon which Ironton recently secured, after much lobbying and great expense, from the government of these United States. On behalf of Senator Tremper we also urge that he be invited and given another cannon to ride, but we want it distinctly understood that we must be given a safe conduct. We do not intend to take any chances on being bombed or blown from the mouths of the cannon.

Again we are disposed to remind our people that these are war times, that we are entered upon perilous times and that considerably more is required of each individual than in peace days. It is a time for every one to be careful and thoughtful in speech and deed. Above all should those who are not citizens walk carefully and in turn citizens should be careful and considerate in their treatment of those aliens who are going about their business and attending to their own affairs. So far all has gone well here. While there has been suspicion and discord elsewhere, while there have been cases of trouble and arrests in other cities, we are glad to say that there has been nothing of the kind here nor has there been occasion for it. We hope that this condition will continue. And it will continue if every one will contribute his mite of good conduct.

Starting in with laments over the loss of the armor plate plant, the two newspapers in Huntington have drifted into a cat and dog fight, all of their own, and are saying the most disagreeable things imaginable about each other. In fact we judge that about everybody in Huntington is ready to bite themselves, they are that disgusted over the outcome of that little government plant episode.

One of our boys wrote the following terse narrative about Elijah: "There was a man named Elijah. He had some bears and lived in a cave. Some boys tormented him. He said: 'If you keep on throwing stones at me I'll turn the bears on you and they'll eat you up.' And they did and he did and the bears did."—The Southern Cross, Buenos Aires.

DOLLARS

(By George Martin)

Next to rubber the dollar is the most elastic thing we have; with the possible exception of a busy-body's tongue.

Some folks can stretch a dollar a lot further than others. Personally, we can't seem to make a dollar go very far. But our wife can. Law, yes. We've seen her make one go all the way down town and back on a shopping tour.

But there really is no necessity for us to go into detail about the dollar. It's a pretty well known subject. We all know that it lives in banks and likes home life so well it has to be pried loose with a crow-bar.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY

O-O-M'INTYRE.

New York, April 21—The Rev. Dr. James E. Walker, who is the advance representative of "Billy" Sunday and his organization, was asked when he arrived if in any circumstances Mr. Sunday had ever publicly called attention to the virtues of favorable attributes of any person attending a tabernacle meeting.

"That is rather hard to say," said Dr. Walker. "Sometimes Mr. Sunday nearly commends a person publicly, but I believe on the whole he does not favor making any individual too optimistic about their advantages."

"I remember at one meeting Mr. Sunday asked the women present if there were any among them who devoted more time to prayer than to primping. He asked those who did to raise their hands. No hands were raised."

"Then Mr. Sunday asked how many of the women present devoted the same amount of time to prayer that they did to making themselves beautiful. Six hands were raised and Mr. Sunday asked the six women to come to the front of the tabernacle. They were the plainest women I believe I ever saw."

"Mr. Sunday looked at them for a moment and asked them if they devoted the exact amount of time to prayer that they did to making themselves beautiful. They said they did."

"Well," said Mr. Sunday, after another look at them, "it won't do you any harm to pray longer than that."

Heard in the subway:

"Well goin' to war?"

"Oh, I guess we won't do any real fighting."

"No, I don't s'pose so."

"How'd you like the President's speech?"

"Pretty fair. I didn't read it all—only the headlines."

There is a story on Broadway that Douglas Fairbanks was lifted from a $300 a week job on the legitimate stage to many thousands a week in the movies by the art of press agency. Of course he had the ability, but the press agency made this ability known to the popular people is the argument that is made.

There was a newspaper tipster along Broadway who had the idea that Fairbanks would be the big attraction in the movies. He kept doggedly after Fairbanks.

His proposition was to do his press work and when he became famous to share in the spoils. Fairbanks finally let him go ahead, more to get rid of him.

The press agent planted all kinds of stories. He told sprightly tales around the cafes and attributed them to Fairbanks. In fact he worked night and day to make the name of Fairbanks better known. Incidentally he worked himself out of a job. Fairbanks did get over with a wallop. He paid the man a satisfactory sum, as the story goes, but now he doesn't need a press agent.

He was a studious looking young man. He sauntered through the lobby of the Majestic. I asked a friend who he was. "That fellow," he said, "is C. P. West, P. Brook Haven, Pelham Grenville and P. G. Wodehouse, but better known as Pelham Grenville Wodehouse. These names are mostly the nom de plumes he employs for his writings. In real life he is Pelham Grenville Wodehouse, an English writer, who is making great strides. He uses C. P. West because he lives on Central Park West and P. Brook Haven because his summer house is at Brook Haven, and Pelham Grenville because—well, it is obvious. Wodehouse has just written 'Have a Heart' and 'Oh Boy,' which are having a run on Broadway."

The Baby and The Soldiers

Rough and ready the troopers ride, Great bearded men, with swords by side; They have ridden long, they have ridden hard. They are travel-stained and battle-scarred; The hard ground shakes with their martial tramp, And coarse is the laugh of the men in camp.

They reach the spot where the mother stands With a baby clapping its little hands, Laughing aloud at the gallant sight Of the mounted soldiers fresh from the fight; The captain laughs out: "I'll give you this, A handful of gold, your baby to kiss."

Smiles the mother: "A kiss can't be sold, But gladly he'll kiss a soldier bold"; He lifts the baby with manly grace And covers with kisses its smiling face, Its rosy lips and its dimpled charms, And it coos with delight in the soldier's arms.

"Not all for the captain," the soldiers call; "The baby, we know, has one for all"; To the soldier's breast the baby is pressed By the strong, rough men, and by turns caressed; And louder it laughs, and the mother fair, Smiles with mute joy as the kisses they share.

"Just such a kiss," cries one trooper grim, "When I left my boy I gave to him"; "And just such a kiss on the parting day, I gave to my girl as asleep she lay." Such were the words of the soldiers brave, And their eyes were moist as the kiss they gave.

—Mabel Lenegar, 935 Third St., City.

Didn't Correct Her "That dame asked me for some commuted lye," said the grocer's new boy with a grin. "You didn't correct her, did you?" asked the grocer. "Aw, nix! I'm onto my job better than dat. I jes handed her a can of consecrated lye 'n' said nothin'!"—Boston Transcript.

Movie In One Reel "You're a picture," ventured the fresh youth, taking a seat beside a pretty girl. "A moving picture, at that," she responded as she transferred herself to a place across the aisle. —Boston Transcript.

Slighting The Barber "I always have my nails manicured when I'm getting my hair cut." "Why?" "I'd rather listen to the nonsense talked by a pretty girl than that spilt by the barber."—Detroit Free Press.

Wise Hubby "Dear me," she wailed, "I'm getting a double chin." Hubby tried to console her. "Your chin is so pretty," said he, "that you shouldn't kick because gratified Mother Nature is giving you another one."—Kansas City Journal.

German Munition Workers Strike Hungary On The Edge Of Revolt

20,000 ON STRIKE IN PROTEST OF REDUCED RATIONS

AMSTERDAM, April 21.

Twenty thousand munition workers in Berlin and Spandau are out on a general strike today in protest against the reduction in bread ration, according to latest information from Germany. Scores of conflicting rumors as to the strike—including a number of reports of great violence accompanying riots in various cities—reached here today. A great force of strikers is said to have revolted at Magdeburg and tried to burn public buildings.

According to this report troops were called out to restore order in the clashes with the rioters had killed and wounded several, the city now being in a state of siege.

Reports from Dusseldorf declared a meeting of strike delegates in Berlin had rejected a proposition advanced by some of the leaders demanding that the German government immediately renounce any intention to annexation in the war, abolish compulsory service and institute at once a general equal franchise system.

Not even the promise of an increase in the allowances of meat and potatoes has been sufficient to offset the curtailment of bread supplies, according to the German reports. Workers apparently have seized upon this as not only a logical time in which to express their demand for more food and more equitable distribution by the government, but to press demands for more pay and reduction in hours.

tion in hours.

That Germany's leaders recognize the seriousness of the general strike and a hint that it may be more grave than reports here have indicated, was evidenced today in an appeal which Field Marshal Von Hindenburg was said to have dispatched to General Groner, chief of the munitions branch, urging that "every strike, however small, may be the means of an unjustifiable weakening of our defensive force, and is an inexcusable crime against the fighting forces, especially the men in the trenches, who bleed in consequence."

Extraordinary efforts are apparently being made by the German government to restore order and to suppress news of the internal situation. Two days ago the government let it be known through official news channels that the entire strike was "settled."

HAIG'S FORCES ADVANCE MORE THAN A MILE TOWARD CAMBRAI

LONDON, April 21.—Field Marshal Haig smashed another blow at Cambrai today—and advanced more than a mile toward that stronghold of the Hindenburg line.

His capture of Gonnelleu was announced in an official statement today. The British commander-in-chief reported sharp fighting in this drive. He likewise detailed the pulse of a German attack delivered at Fankissart and considerable artillery firing at a number of places along the front. With the capture of Gonnelleu, Haig's steel line paralleling the Cambrai-St. Quentin highway had been shoved one mile closer to Cambrai and a driving angle for a blow on that city formed reaching from Havrincourt and Villers Plouich to Gonnelleu on the north, to Villers-Guislain and Epehy on the south.

"During the night we captured Gonnelleu after sharp fighting, taking a number of prisoners," the report said. "An enemy party attempted to enter our trenches in the neighborhood of Fankissart, but were repulsed. Artillery was active at a number of places during the night."

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, April 21.—The French out-Hindenburged Hindenburg in their great offensive.

It is possible today for the first time to reveal some of the strategy which to date has swept the French forces on in their greatest victory in general offensive since the war began.

It was the same strategy superior that enabled the French to force the Germans' acceptance of the ground previously chosen by the French as the site of the battle of the Marne. In the same fashion the French forced the Germans to accept the site of the present battle of the Aisne—on ground carefully selected by the French strategists from Soissons to Auberive.

Hindenburg's strategic retreat was for the purpose of forcing the French to accept battle on ground which the German staff had chosen before the Hindenburg line. That strategy has now failed. The French did not choose Hindenburg's line as the main point of their offensive. Likewise all the wanton destruction in the pathway of the German retreat—all the razing of trees and villages—done to interfere with the allies' advance, has now proved utterly useless as a military step completely unjustifiable. The but-day. It will likely continue for weeks before a decisive moment is reached, according to the general impression among strategists at the front. Along the forty odd miles of fighting line there are three general sections, where the topography of the country makes three natural divisions. To the left is the section from Soissons to Craonne, the center lies between Craonne and Rheims and the right is between Rheims and Auberive. Information obtainable here at the front today was that these divisions are likely to undergo modifications, with the possibility always of a great extension of the front.

Today the battle is raging everywhere along the three divisions with incredible fury. The great struggle sub-divides itself into numerous smaller engagements. They may seem meaningless little or big clashes—but every one of them tend to a common objective fixed long before hand.

Scarcely an hour of the day or night does not witness at some point either an attack or the repulse of a counter-attack. They are always indicated by a sudden rise to terrific intensity of the ceaseless artillery roll along fronts of one, two, three or more miles.

Although these battles are furious in their intensity only the artillery is usually visible as the sign of the conflict—because the infantry fights its way forward under the cover of forests, ravines and valleys, or slips through former German trenches.

The ability of the French to bombard without limit any point at any time is what permits the absolute certainty of an advance. Such a concentration of fire as the French pour in where they want it, completely wipe out every defensive device known to German genius or constructed by German labor since 1914.

But if the actual fighting battle front does not reveal the presence of troops, immediately to the rear there is everywhere visible a titanic concentration of men, munitions and material. The valleys, woods and ravines are filled with cavalry, infantry hitched batteries, munition trains, automobiles, trucks, cannon—all either advancing or awaiting the word to dash to the front. There is a forward movement everywhere.

PARIS, April 21.—More ground was gained by French attacks north of Rheims today while Ger-

AMERICA MAY HAVE TO FURTHER CENTRALIZE GOVERNMENT FOR WAR

WASHINGTON, April 21.—America may have to centralize her government further for war times, just as England and France have done.

The reason for this, in the view of many here, is that at present many administrative duties are overlapping—if not actually conflicting. The food situation is a striking example of the problem before the government. Three distinct agencies are discussing it, or vying to probe it to the bottom—the agriculture department, the federal trade commission and the National Council of Defense.

That there may be just a trace of friction in these three divergent elements was indicated by the remark of Secretary of Agriculture Houston when asked if Herbert Hoover, acting for national council, would be in charge of food investigation.

"Why, I thought the secretary of agriculture would be in charge," Houston replied. Another instance of where the government branches apparently fail to team together fully is indicated from the fact that Sunday President Wilson appealed to the country for its service and to practice economy. A few days later, Howard Coffin of the National Defense issued a statement explaining what kind of economy to practice and virtually saying

"don't practice extraordinary economy."

Reports are current that some of the government branches are not entirely pleased at the National Council of Defense with its divergent views.

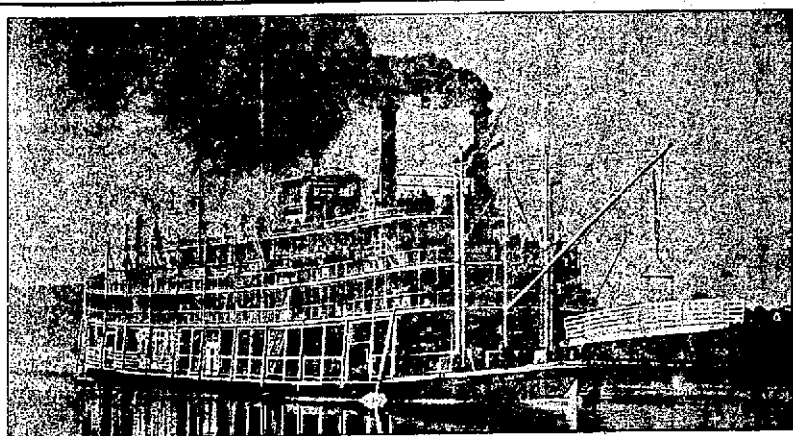

In the circumstances, there is talk here today that something may have to be done to give a broader central control—for the war only.

Local Fight Fans Enjoyed A Rattling Good Show Last Night

Fight fans, who wended their way to the local hall, Seventh and Chillicothe streets Friday night were amply repaid as they saw two cocking good scraps and one little tango party, which would have been complete if set to music.

The first preliminary, a six round affair staged by two dandy warriors, Ben Hamilton and Kid Fliskey was a ripper. Hamilton, although outwinded and outboxed by his opponent, grandly carried the fight to Hamilton and was declared the winner after six pretty rounds in which a lot of real fighting was pulled off.

In the semi-final Asa Henderson, who is showing an improvement of late, met, heeled Kid Lewis of Columbus, who substituted for Ned Frantz. It was by no means a runaway for Henderson, but he outpointed Lewis and administered severe punishment to the latter. Lewis retired in the seventh and almost swept Henderson off his feet with a fusillade of punches, but Asa came back and had Lewis backing and covering up before the bell rang for the round. It was a scathing battle all the way and both fighters were liberally applauded. Henderson is a real color, but, of course, needs a lot more experience to clash with hardened, experienced boxers. Henderson weighed 145 and Lewis 138.

Home Thomas of Columbus and Phil O'Dowd of Cleveland gave a little dancing party all their own in the main go of the rounds. Both lightning fast, they dazzled the fans with their speed and footwork, but the go was a pink tea affair, and the first two rounds, Asa carried the fight part of the way and Thomas the rest. Neither was hurt, and the bout ended in a draw.

Promoter Anderson, who refereed the fights should be congratulated on staging so clever a boxing bill. It was a corker, and the 250 fight fans enjoyed it. One of two more like it and the local hall will not hold the crowds. Possibly nowhere in the state are boxing shows being held under better regulated conditions than right here in Portsmouth.

REDS DROP ANOTHER

James Kelley Shot 256 In Duck Pin Game

And now comes one, James Kelley, captain of the Junior High, of the 21st Street Duck Pin league, and puts up a record for ducks that should put him among the world's select list of artists. Shooting Friday evening at the Play House Mr. Kelley totaled 256, a wonderful score and one that will stand until Gabriel blows his trumpet. Mr. Kelley started out with a flat frame, then swung up four strikes, then a spare and finished with five strikes, getting 9 pins on his last ball. Every ball, with the exception of the first one, was a perfect hit. Of course, Mr. Kelley is much pleased over his great performance and is receiving the congratulations of his friends. Mr. Kelley was eliminated in the city tournament, but he most certainly gave a demonstration yesterday as to why he should not have been. Mr. Kelley has all duck pin artists giving him the salute since his wonderful score yesterday.

Governor Cox Congratulates The Peerless Garden Club

Previously reported 1063
Reported today 35

Total 1098
When the Peerless Garden Club membership reached the one thousand mark a telegram to that effect was sent to Governor Cox, and The Times is in receipt of a letter from Charles E. Morris, secretary to the governor, which says: "Governor Cox directs me to acknowledge receipt of your telegram and to congratulate the Peerless Garden Club upon its most worthy activities."

Post office employees are rapidly becoming affiliated with the Peerless Garden Club. Those enrolling today are: W. J. Grier, George Swabby, James Fulton, Charles E. Tracy, Wells Crawford, D. E. Thomas and William Oleim. Glen Dins, of the Marting Dry Goods Company, has joined, and has planted a splendid garden.

Maybe I will ship a car load of garden stuff to Belgium, says O. M. Coburn, Sr., 1423 Spring avenue, who is planting onions, peas and other vegetables.

Every one with strength enough to lift a hoe and a daily hour or so of spare time, in the early morning or late afternoon, is invited to make himself a present of $50 or $100 this spring in the form of the quantity of vegetables fresh from the garden, which those sums will buy.

Previous experience is not necessary. The applicant may think that a hoe is a printing press and a spade something needed to fill a bush, but if he enlists in the food gardening movement, can make himself the present aforesaid.

When the school and home gardening movements started in the United States a score of years ago few persons foresaw that some day this miniature farming of urban lots might prove of great economic benefit to the entire population. Up to the present the movement has been fostered as a social service—to give boys and girls habits of industry, and to afford to dwellers in congested districts, enjoyable, healthful and profitable occupation in their leisure, with incidental aid in beautifying cities and towns by cleaning up the back yards and vacant lots.

But the present food crisis makes these idle lands an important source of food supply. Here's the chance you have been looking for, you residents of East Portsmouth and men of the manufacturing plants east of the city. The ground is right near your work—two miles of garden space. Up the Milldale Road and a mile up Milldale Road lies this ground and the owners, L. C. Turley and Alvin N. Jordan are going to plow it up next week. The family of any employee of the Whitaker-Glessner company, Portsmouth Solvay company, Breece Manufacturing company, Peckles Paving Brick company, Portsmouth Water Works, Carlyle Brick company, and Seloto Star Brick Works, may have free a small garden plot and it will be already for the rake and seeds. It will be absolutely free.

In order to protect anyone starting a garden on this ground from the possibility of sale by the owners they provide that if the lot is sold before the garden is matured, the gardeners shall have their choice of receiving pay, or of purchasing it at the same price and terms as the proposed buyer. For particulars see Houston Ricker at Milldale or phone him, 1433-X.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Edward Hasenauer

Mrs. Katherine Heid

The city lost another of its pioneer and most highly regarded residents when Mrs. Katherine Heid, aged 86, passed peacefully away Friday evening at 5:45 o'clock, her death taking place at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Prantz, of 601 Market street. Death was caused by infirmities.

Mrs. Heid was the widow of the late Charles Heid, who died 22 years ago. She is survived by the following children: Charles of this city, Joseph of Colorado Springs, Colo., George of Nebraska, Henry of Iowa, Mrs. John Welty of Sixth street, Mrs. William Jackson of Indiana, Mrs. Joseph Prantz, this city, Mrs. Frank Monahan of the West Side and Miss Theresa Heid of this city.

The funeral services will be conducted from the St. Mary's church Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock.

Public Meeting Is Called For Monday

Twenty-five enthusiastic women formed the first American Red Cross organization in Portsmouth, yesterday afternoon, with some peculiarly interesting features in connection with the event. The organization was effected in connection with a meeting of the Woman's Literary Club, in which many invited guests took part. Miss Mary E. Purcell was invited to present the matter to these ladies and was appointed chairman of the organization for the present. Monday afternoon, April 23, at three o'clock, was selected as the time for a meeting, to which all loyal men and women are invited, and the Woman's Club, corner of Fifth and Court streets, is the place. The enthusiasm was intense, and the announcement is meeting a cordial reception wherever it has been mentioned. Among the ladies who formed the organization are several who are as closely interested in army and navy affairs as anyone in the city. They are: Mrs. W. J. Keyes, wife of the captain of our own Company K, Seventh O. N. G.; Mrs. Samuel Horchow, who has one son in Company K, First Lieutenant Joseph Horchow, and another son, Reuben Horchow, first lieutenant in the Yale Cavalry of Connecticut; and Mrs. A. Quinn, whose husband, Dr. W. A. Quinn, is first lieutenant of the Seventh U. S. Cavalry stationed at Fort Bliss, Texas; one son, William, has been appointed to West Point; and another son, Robert, is captain of Company C of the local High School Cadets.

WILL PAY MORE THAN DOUBLY

It is to be hoped that farmers and people generally will receive earnestly and act most energetically upon the suggestion of the president that they devote themselves to wider and more intense cultivation. War, the terrible enterprise upon which we are so near to be thrown, is waged in the modern time more upon the stomach of the armies than ever. There is no question that our factories can supply the munition demands of our soldiers no matter how inconceivable may be their vastness, but there is a doubt that in case the impending conflict wages for a length of time, that it may be able to supply them sufficiently with wholesome food. Every instinct of patriotism calls the citizenry to get ready for the need of that supply right. Let it be remembered that every little bit will help and help most potentially. We see that in the case of Germany. Her farming is the most intense in the world, for years she prepared for the struggle that all saw coming, her people have practiced wonders in self denial, yet her weakness today is undoubtedly her food shortage and of that is born the desperate submarine policy that is involving her with America. The allies are reducing her to starvation by embargo and it is to cause them her own pains and weakness that she is destroying the commerce of friend and foe alike.

Therefore, every tillable acre, every open lot, every vacant patch, should be used in producing wheat, corn, potatoes, beans and other grains and vegetables. On farms principally the four mentioned, but on smaller areas anything that will grow equally abundant will do quite as well because one product consumed lessens the consumption of another. Relatively the cultivation of the small patch is most important because it will be made to produce to a greater average. The man who realizes this fact and acts upon it is equally patriotic with him of larger domain, who is actuated by similar spirit. Besides there is the incentive of profit. Prices are not going to be low. The war demand will take up any increase and when blessed peace does come again the whole world, except maybe ourselves, will be hungry and need to be fed.

FINDING ITS PLACE

The much condemned and, the altogether desired automobile is proving that it has a proper and a useful place in the scheme of modern existence.

At Berkeley, California, it has been made a part of the equipment of a policeman and thereby has earned the esteem of all. The policeman furnishes the car, but the city pays for the gasoline and oil and besides allows $25 per month for its use.

Each car is equipped with a fire extinguisher, first aid kit and emergency ladder. It makes the work of the individual policeman much more effective, he can cover more territory more frequently, he can answer urgent calls more quickly and can meet for more demands in quite every way.

Incidentally, it abolishes loitering and shirking on the part of policemen and avoids that familiarity with individuals that has such a tendency to make police work ineffective.

All of which is saying a good deal for the automobile. And taking this into consideration with the further facts that it is the most potent advocate of good roads and is adding variety and attractiveness to country life, it has, after all, more to its credit than its discredit.

We regret to announce that the mayor of Ironton did not call us up on the telephone and deliver an oration on the armor plate situation when he visited our fair and thriving village Thursday evening.

The New York Sun readers are so jubilant over the offensive of the French and British armies that they are writing letters to the Sun demanding that peace be dictated in Berlin by the allied generals.

Here are three reasons why you should plant that garden. In 1915 the average price of potatoes in midwinter was 22 cents a peck; in 1916 the average price per peck was 37 cents; in 1917 the average price was 76 cents a peck.

In these columns, eye, passing the eye of the sharp and sapient Dolly Wise, we see someone referring to America as the national anthem. A thousand and seven times we have shouted and shrieked that it is not, but The Star Spangled Banner—long and triumphant—may she wave—is! The first thing anybody knows congress will be called upon to make it treason to maintain or state otherwise.

Takes trouble to make for common sense. New York hotels have taken to printing their menus in just straight "American."

We are confident that those who are planning to give Texas to the Mexicans will have regard enough for formalities to defer the transfer until they secure a quit claim deed from the Texans.—Houston Post.

The best time to kill a fly is right now, just at the time to clean up is today.

Senator Pomerene is forward with a resolution to investigate the raise in the price of flags. If he could be here tonight he would have one reason joyfully presented to his sight. Demand is a price accelerator and the bunting manufacturers were never accused of a lack of appreciation of the fact that the time to make hay was while the sun shone and just now the sun of patriotism is shining brightly.

WILLIE AROUSES THE SLEEPING GIANT

Of course we are delighted over that specially engraved invitation to attend the loyalty parade at Ironton next week and ride in carriages with prominent citizens, but we will be forced to decline unless we can have the privilege of riding on one of those rusty, obsolete, iron cannon which Ironton recently secured, after much lobbying and great expense, from the government of these United States. On behalf of Senator Trempier we also urge that he be invited and given another cannon to ride, but we want it distinctly understood that we must be given a safe conduct. We do not intend to take any chances on being bombed or blown from the mouths of the cannon.

Again we are disposed to remind our people that these are war times, that we are entered upon perilous times and that considerably more is required of each individual than in peace days. It is a time for every one to be careful and thoughtful in speech and deed. Above all should those who are not citizens walk carefully and in turn citizens should be careful and considerate in their treatment of those aliens who are going about their business and attending to their own affairs. So far all has gone well here. While there has been suspicion and discord elsewhere, while there have been cases of trouble and arrests in other cities, we are glad to say that there has been nothing of the kind here nor has there been occasion for it. We hope that this condition will continue. And it will continue if every one will contribute his mite of good conduct.

Starting in with laments over the loss of the armor plate plant, the two newspapers in Huntington have drifted into a cat and dog fight, all of their own, and are saying the most disagreeable things imaginable about each other. In fact we judge that about everybody in Huntington is ready to bite themselves, they are that disgusted over the outcome of that little government plant episode.

One of our boys wrote the following terse narrative about Elijah: "There was a man named Elijah. He had some bears and lived in a cave. Some boys tormented him. He said: 'If you keep on throwing stones at me I'll turn the bears on you and they'll eat you up.' And they did and he did and the bears did."—The Southern Cross, Buenos Aires.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY

O-O-MEINTYRE.

New York, April 21.—The Rev. Dr. James E. Walker, who is the advance representative of "Billy" Sunday and his organization, was asked when he arrived in any circumstances Mr. Sunday had ever publicly called attention to the virtues of fur-trimmed attributes of any person attending a tabernacle meeting.

"That is rather hard to say," said Dr. Walker. "Sometimes Mr. Sunday nearly commends a person publicly, but I believe on the whole he does not favor making any individual too optimistic about their advantages."

"I remember at one meeting Mr. Sunday asked the women present if there were any among them who devoted more time to prayer than to primping. He asked those who did to raise their hands. No hands were raised."

"Then Mr. Sunday asked how many of the women present devoted the sum amount of time to prayer that they did to making themselves beautiful. Six hands were raised and Mr. Sunday asked the six women to come to the front of the tabernacle. They were the plainest women I believe I ever saw."

"Mr. Sunday looked at them for a moment and asked them if they devoted the exact amount of time to prayer that they did to making themselves beautiful. They said they did."

"Well," said Mr. Sunday, after another look at them, "it won't do you any harm to pray longer than that."

"Heard in the subway: 'Well, goin' to war?'"

"Oh, I guess we won't do any real fighting."

"No, I don't suppose so."

"How'd you like the President's speech?"

"Pretty fair. I didn't read it all—only the headlines."

There is a story on Broadway that Douglas Fairbanks was lifted from a $400 a week job on the legitimate stage to many thousands a week in the movies by the art of press agency. Of course he had the ability, but the press agency made this ability known to the popular people is the argument that is made.

There was a newspaper tipster along Broadway who had the idea that Fairbanks would be the big attraction in the movies. He kept doggedly after Fairbanks.

His proposition was to do his press work and when he became famous to share in the spoils. Fairbanks finally let him go ahead, more to get rid of him.

The press agent planted all kinds of stories. He told sprightly tales around the cafes and attributed them to Fairbanks. In fact he worked night and day to make the name of Fairbanks better known. Incidentally he worked himself out of a job. Fairbanks did get over with a wallop. He paid the man a satisfactory sum, as the story goes, but now he doesn't need a press agent.

He was a studious looking young man. He sauntered through the lobby of the Majestic. I asked a friend who he was. "That fellow," he said, "is C. P. West, P. Brook Haven, Pelham Grenville and P. G. Wodehouse, but better known as Pelham Grenville Wodehouse. These names are mostly the nom de plumes he employs for his writings. In real life he is Pelham Grenville Wodehouse, an English writer, who is making great strides. He uses C. P. West because he lives on Central Park West and P. Brook Haven because his summer house is at Brook Haven, and Pelham Grenville because—well, it is obvious. Wodehouse has just written 'Have a Heart' and 'Oh Boy,' which are having a run on Broadway."

DOLLARS

(By George Martin)

Next to rubber the dollar is the most elastic thing we have; with the possible exception of a busy-body's tongue.

Some folks can stretch a dollar a lot further than others. Personally, we can't seem to make a dollar go very far. But our wife can. Law, yes. We've seen her make one go all the way down town and back on a shopping tour.

But there really is no necessity for us to go into detail about the dollar. It's a pretty well known subject. We all know that it lives in banks and likes home life so well it has to be pried loose with a crow-bar.

Bottle Tricks—Old and New. Ever see a bottle with full sized eggs inside? How did they get there? Simplest thing in the world. If you let an uncooked egg stand in vinegar for about twenty minutes you can elongate it enough to get it into a small necked bottle. Pour in cold water, says the Popular Science Monthly, and the egg will return to its original shape. How do they get a ship inside a bottle? Another easy trick. The ship is built outside and then placed in the bottle through a false bottom. Is there anything simpler?

The Baby and The Soldiers

Rough and ready the troopers ride, Great bearded men, with swords by side; They have ridden long, they have ridden hard. They are travel-stained and battle-scarred; The hard ground shakes with their martial tramp, And 'course' is the laugh of the men in camp.

They reach the spot where the mother stands With a baby clapping its little hands, Laughing proud at the gallant sight.

Of the mounted soldiers' fresh from the fight; The captain laughs out: "I'll give you this, A handful of gold, your baby to kiss."

Smiles the mother: "A kiss can't be sold, But gladly he'll kiss a soldier's child."

He lifts the baby with manly grade And bows with kisses its smiling face. Its rosy lips and its dimpled cheeks, And it goes with delight in the soldier's arms.

"Not all for the captain," the soldiers call, "The baby, we know, has one for all."

To the soldier's breast the baby is pressed, By the strong, rough men, and by turfs caressed, And louder it laughs and the mother fur.

Smiles with quietude as the kisses they share, Just such a kiss as comes one trooper grim.

When I left my boy I gave to him, And just such a kiss on the parting day.

I gave to my girl as asleep she lay, Such words the words of the soldiers brave.

And their eyes were moist as the kisses they gave, —Mabel Lanegan, 935 Third St., City.

The Habit of Acquisition. "It beats me," said the philosopher, "that people will keep piling up money long after they have several times as much as they'll ever be able to use."

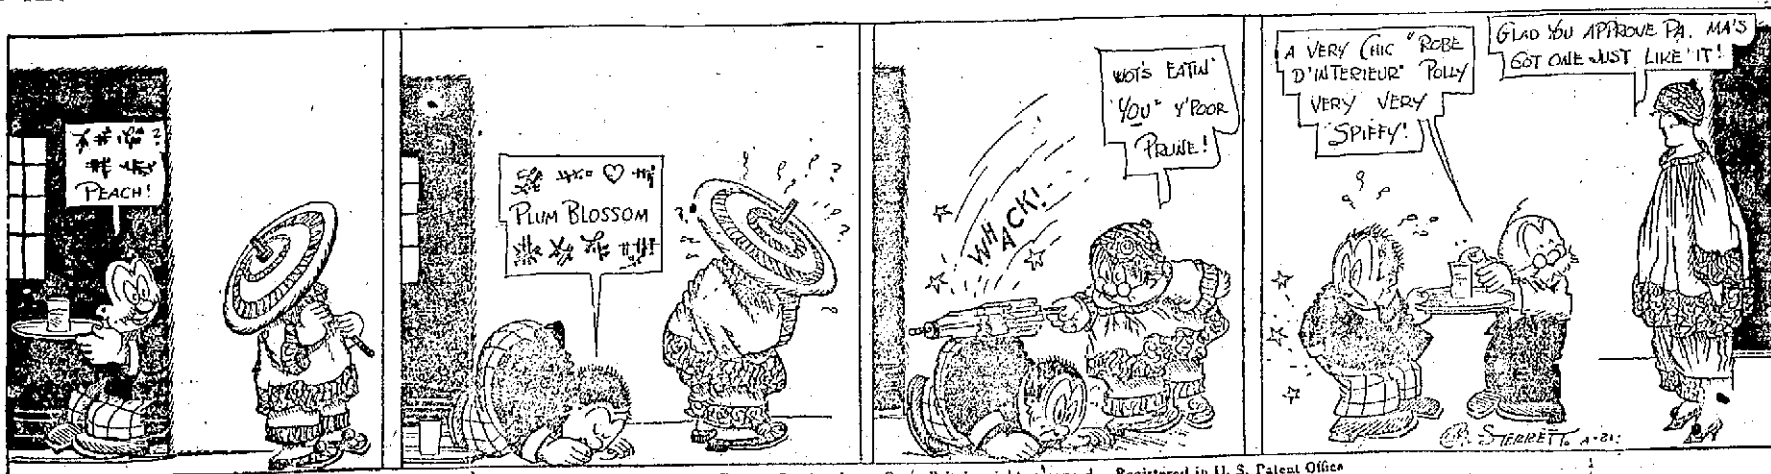

Then he went out for a walk. Passing a bookstore, he saw half a dozen very cheap books, which, however, he knew he hadn't time to read and doubted very much if he ever would have time to read. # WORKMAN KILLED IN FALL FROM C. & O. N. BRIDGE

4th Fatality At Structure

Joseph Anderson, aged 28, a helper employed on the new C. & O. N. bridge at Sciotoville, fell a distance of 130 feet ten minutes after he went to work at 7 o'clock Saturday morning and was killed instantly. He was working on the bridge and it is presumed that he lost his balance. There were no eye witnesses to the accident.

In falling Anderson's head came in contact with an iron brace and his head was split open. His brains were oozing out when fellow bridgemen reached his body which lodged in the deck of the bridge.

Coroner J. W. Daehler was called and will investigate the fatality.

Anderson, according to officials at the bridge had been working at Sciotoville for a month, coming there from his home in Marysville, Tenn., where his wife is still located. He is said to have worked on a number of big bridge jobs and was an experienced structural iron worker. His parents reside in Knoxville, Tenn., and they, with the wife, were notified of Anderson's tragic death this morning. The body has been moved to Daehler's morgue.

Since work on the superstructure of the bridge was started, four men have fallen to tragic deaths. The last victim was Elmer Jackel, who was killed in a 120 foot fall several months ago. His home was in Michigan.

ROOSEVELT REITERATES STRONGLY A DEMAND FOR DRAFT SYSTEM

NEW YORK, April 21.—Colonel Roosevelt struck back today at those who have been using his plan for raising a division of troops as an argument against obligatory service. In the first interview he has granted on his army plan, he reiterated strongly his demand for universal obligatory service coupled with a plan that while this compulsory system was being made operative, a volunteer force be sent abroad.

"I do not want to be put in the position of saying to my fellow countrymen—go to the war," he declared. "I want to be in the position of saying—come to the war; I am going with you."

"I wish we already had universal military training in this country. But we are as Great Britain was when the war broke out. She had disregarded Lord Roberts' advice to have universal military service."

"But it would have been a capital mistake if when the war broke out, she had declined to send a small military expedition at once to Belgium and had refused to accept volunteers from Canada and Australia—on the plea that she then intended to do nothing except in accordance with the theory of obligatory military service."

"What she ought to have done, was to send her expeditionary army exactly as she did; to use the volunteers exactly as she did—and instantly to introduce the system of obligatory service also. This is precisely what we should do. With all my heart I approve of the president's plan for universal obligatory service—both for the present war and as our permanent policy. This plan will give us the army we must have eighteen months hence. But we dent under whom he now sought to serve.

"Once this country is at war," he answered quietly emphasizing his staccato utterances with clenched fists, "I recognize no partisanship and no distinction of parties. Let us all stand shoulder to shoulder without the slightest regard to ordinary partisan considerations—without the slightest regard to our differences on internal subjects—pledged all of us alike to war for the honor of the flag and the interests of mankind."

2000 College Students To Be Added To Army of Farm Workers

COLUMBUS, O., April 21.—More than two thousand college students soon will be added to the great army of farm helpers the state council of defense hopes to put into Ohio fields for the planting and harvesting of bumper war crops.

In addition to Ohio State University which at Governor Cox's request has agreed to release college boys for farm labor, these schools have likewise promised co-operation: Case School of Applied Science and Western Reserve University, Cleveland; Ohio Wesleyan at Delaware; Oberlin College at Oberlin; Otterbein at Westerville; Antioch at Yellow Springs; Wittenberg at Springfield; Cedarville at Cedarville; and Ohio University at Athens.

President Hoffman at Ohio Wesleyan has suggested that commencement there may be moved up from June to May.

Meanwhile heads of Ohio's 22 state institutions, have pledged Governor Cox they will make every effort this year to produce on state farms all the potatoes, beans, hominy and vegetables needed for the state's 25,000 wards.

Miss Mary Terry, who has been ill at her home on Second street, for several weeks, is improving.

Mrs. Henry Hall, of Court street, who has been ill many weeks, was able to take a drive Thursday, and is improving steadily.

DEFERRED KINDNESS.

Let the moral the following quotation points sink deep into your mind: "I am rather tired of seeing all the flowers at weddings and funerals. We need a few in between. Maybe a few flowers put into the hand when it was warm instead of icy cold might have kept the hands warm a little longer. Anyway, it would have made the heart that has ceased to beat a little lighter."

School Children Of County To Help In The "Food Drive"

Revised plans for distributing information blanks among the farmers of the Sixteenth District, comprising Scioto, Lawrence, Jackson and Adams counties, have been made, according to R. E. Thomas, secretary of the board of trade, who attended a meeting Friday evening between W. H. Mosier, food commissioner for the National Council for Defense and the rural school authorities.

It is now planned to eliminate the personal visitation feature, and its place substitute the new plan. Blanks will be distributed among the school children of the rural schools to take home. Those not reached in this manner will be urged to meet at various grange halls.

The "Food Drive" for District No. 16 will be started Tuesday morning with W. H. Mosier of the National Defense Council, H. D. Wehrly, of the Bureau of Community Service and Otto Zoellner, county food commissioner and R. E. Thomas, of the board of trade co-operating.

Every farmer in the county will be asked and urged to assist the authorities in increasing the acreage of foodstuffs in this district. In return every means will be tendered the farmers to secure labor and machinery.

Monday, April 30, an employment bureau will be opened in the city by H. D. Wehrly where men desiring to assist with farm work this spring and summer may register. Farmers desiring assistance can get help by calling the employment office.

W. H. Mosier left Saturday morning for Ironton, where he will confer with Rom Johnson, food commissioner of Lawrence county. Mr. Mosier will return to Portsmouth Monday.

During the "drive" in this district Portsmouth will be the base of operation for Mr. Mosier. Pending further instruction from the main office of the Ohio Chapter of the National Defense Council, other work contemplated and opening of an employment office will be suspended.

FLAG RAISED OVER FOUNDRY DEPARTMENT

Considerable rivalry exists among the various departments in the plant of the Whitaker Glessner Company as to which one will raise a flag over their department first and this honor goes to the foundry employees.
